The day after the celebration, a considerable number of luminaries of the literary and scientific world, which have attended so many of our public meetings, as different persons, in general rejoicing, assembled at the Hall, a number of Southern, among other, persons, representing the region crossing the Atlantic, was a degree of enthusiasm manifested on the part drawn from their own countrymen, the lively soul to be proud, and which throughout the day, in their presence. It would have been to be the British to contribute to the funds of this the names of the celebrities, and one which clearly marked the spirit of the occasion - a feeling of the proceedings, and was then, and since of the slightest disorder, or disturbance, - violation, or impropriety was observed either directly, or indirectly, by a common spirit of self defence, and a common sense of the propriety of the occasion.

THE FIRST 200 YEARS

A knowledge of American history is an invitation to experience the accomplishment, drama, tragedy and hope of an infant nation struggling to grow up. Sturdy, determined pioneers hacked away at the edges of a raw continent and, with blunders and achievements alike, modeled a country with a spirited nature and a united commitment to individual liberty for every one of its citizens. Americans, great and not so great, have given us a heritage to carry on and improve upon. Farmers and soldiers, industrialists and merchants, dreamers and leaders, are all there in two centuries of progress.

But the maturing isn't finished. You'll find the boundaries of growth as endless today as when our forefathers first envisioned them. You can seek out your own destiny with the wisdom and judgement which comes with re-creation of the past. Your knowledge, dreams and industry will carry on through many more centuries of living history.

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

The unanimous Declaration of the thirteen united States of America.

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness — That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed — That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all reformations have hitherto been attended to by gradual amendments. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object evinces a design to reduce us to absolute Tyranny, it is our right to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. — Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is still the voice of Justice and Liberty, that we deem it unnecessary to repeat the particulars of those oppressions, whose very recollection has been blended with every breath of our daily lives. — We therefore, the Representatives of the united States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be Free and Independent States; that they have full Power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. — And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor.

"Everything that is right or reasonable pleads for separation. The blood of the slain, the weeping voice of nature cries, 'tis time to part'." — Thomas Paine.

CHAPTERS OF AMERICAN HISTORY

The Stamp Act of 1765 was an attempt by England to tax items that were wholly American. The colonists reacted in seething resentment which erupted into angry protestations. The first blood of the American Revolution was spilled during one such incident at Boston in 1770. Several Americans lost their lives over a snowball thrown at a British sentry.

In the fight to achieve commerce equality, the United States found itself in a naval war over shipping lanes. Fort McHenry was heroically held during a British naval bombardment, and the stars and stripes still flew after a night of hard fighting. The next morning Francis Scott Key penned the immortal words of what would become the national anthem.

Settlers had to have permanent access to the new lands, so canals and bridges were built to carry stages and wagon trains loaded with machinery destined for settlements in the West. The pioneers foresaw great wealth in the cheap acreage that was available.

Frontiersmen cleared the wilderness, built settlements and drove back the Indians. The Pony Express and the telegraph became primary means of communication.

Agriculture was the wealth of the country. American inventions of the time were often related to working the soil. The McCormick Reaper, mowing machines, textile looms and the cotton gin were instrumental in the settling of new frontiers.

In 1848, James Marshall found gold in the race of a sawmill he was building for John Sutter at Coloma, California. The lust to "get rich quick" was the force behind this biggest and gaudiest gold rush ever.

While "gold rush fever" gripped the country, states were increasingly more divided on the slavery issue. Civil war broke out in the East. This "Brothers War" was bitterly fought and, though the scars remain even today, slavery was abolished.

Cities grew at an alarming pace, often without regard to the limits of safety. The great Chicago fire of 1871 burned the bustling cattle market empire beyond recognition. But the pioneer spirit was not broken. Chicagoans began rebuilding and preparations were underway to celebrate the 100th birthday of the country.

The "Iron Horse," carrying homesteaders, greatly helped settlement of the new country. The first transcontinental railroad connected the country at Promontory Summit, Utah, on May 10, 1869.

Transportation was setting the pattern for the American way of life. The country became a mobile society with electric trolleys, automobiles, farm machinery, and bicycles, all the rage. Along with the accessibility of travel came a new era of nationalism.

A World War called upon the nation's young men to unite and fight. After the war in Europe, the nation pulled itself together and industry flourished once again. A carefree America buried war memories in the new moving pictures, telephones, light bulbs, electric generators, stock market ticker tape machines, phonographs and a wealth of inventions from the fertile minds of its young inventors. Baseball became the national sport and prohibition was law.

Black Thursday, October 24, 1929, saw the American stock market crash to the lowest level in history. Panic set in as the unemployment level skyrocketed. The country was in its worst economic crisis. Slowly, but surely, the wounds of the "crash," the "dust bowl," and poverty healed.

The steel industry geared up for the revival while rumors were whispered in the Roosevelt administration of another impending war. The nation's leaders scoffed; until December 7, 1941 Pearl Harbor!

Industrial production reached a peak during the war years. Upon their return from four years of battle, the veterans forged ahead with an eye on a "better life for everyone." Several moderate recessions in the 50's and 60's reminded cautious citizens of past decades.

Huge strides were being taken in the scientific field. Television became a part of every family's life. National events were household topics — while they happened — thanks to the new medium. Individuals and groups were seen "on the tube" as they advocated new social reform, or justice, or special causes of their own. TV gave individuals and political systems power greater than ever before. Audio-visual journalism had made its impact.

Nearly 100 years of struggling for civil liberties were realized when President Lyndon Baines Johnson signed the Civil Rights Act of 1964 into law. The Act outlawed segregation in any form.

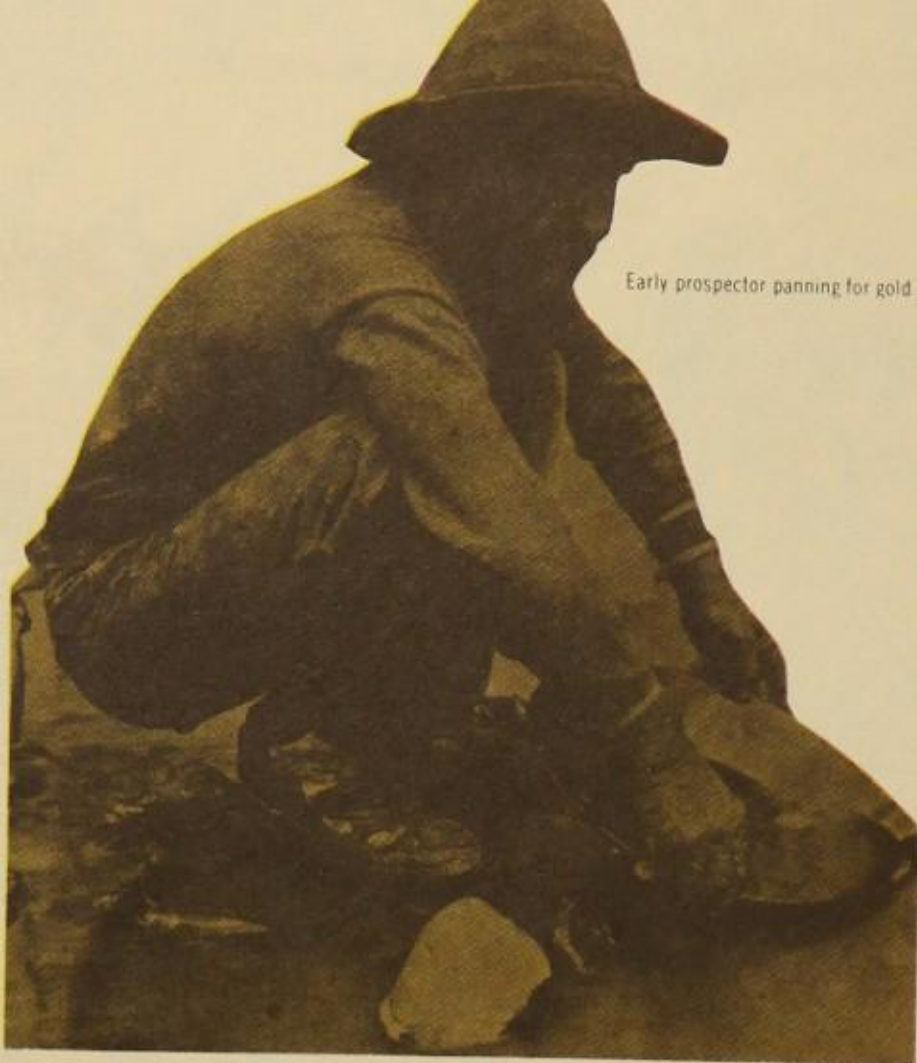

The seventies shed light on a new trouble for the nation as it approached its 200th birthday. The world's energy sources and natural resources were being used up faster than they could be replenished. Americans once again waded into a new frontier. The "energy crisis" and "ecology" were prominent words in the language. Ways to save nature from the neglect of mankind and ways of preserving precious fuel without damaging that balance of nature were the objectives of Americans across the country.

Earth's crises spurred Americans into further pioneering. This time outer space. American astronauts were the first on the surface of the moon and the U.S. was first to build a "sky-lab" for more scientific study.

American is still learning and growing after a mere 200-year infancy. The original determination of our forefathers was told again in the words of Neil Armstrong as he made the first step on the moon — "a small step for man, but a giant step for mankind."

THE CHANGING NATION

Ownership of land had been just a dream to most of the colonists from feudal England. With the great expanse of cheap land opening up in the West, the dream became reality.

The Louisiana Purchase of 1803 opened the first sizable frontier in the Midwest, but the nation was not ready for it yet. It took a growing market in the East, where land was getting high-priced and scarce, and development of good transportation, to really start the frontier movement.

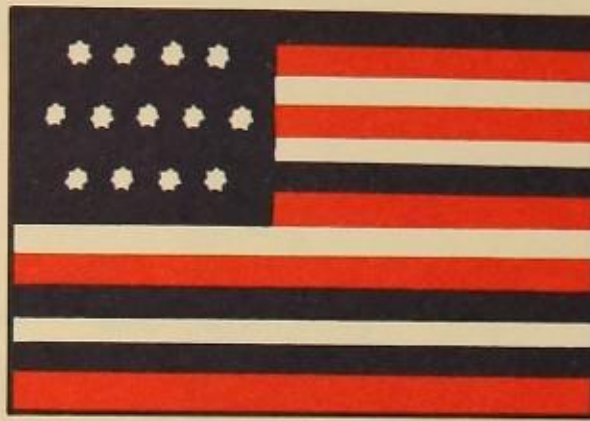

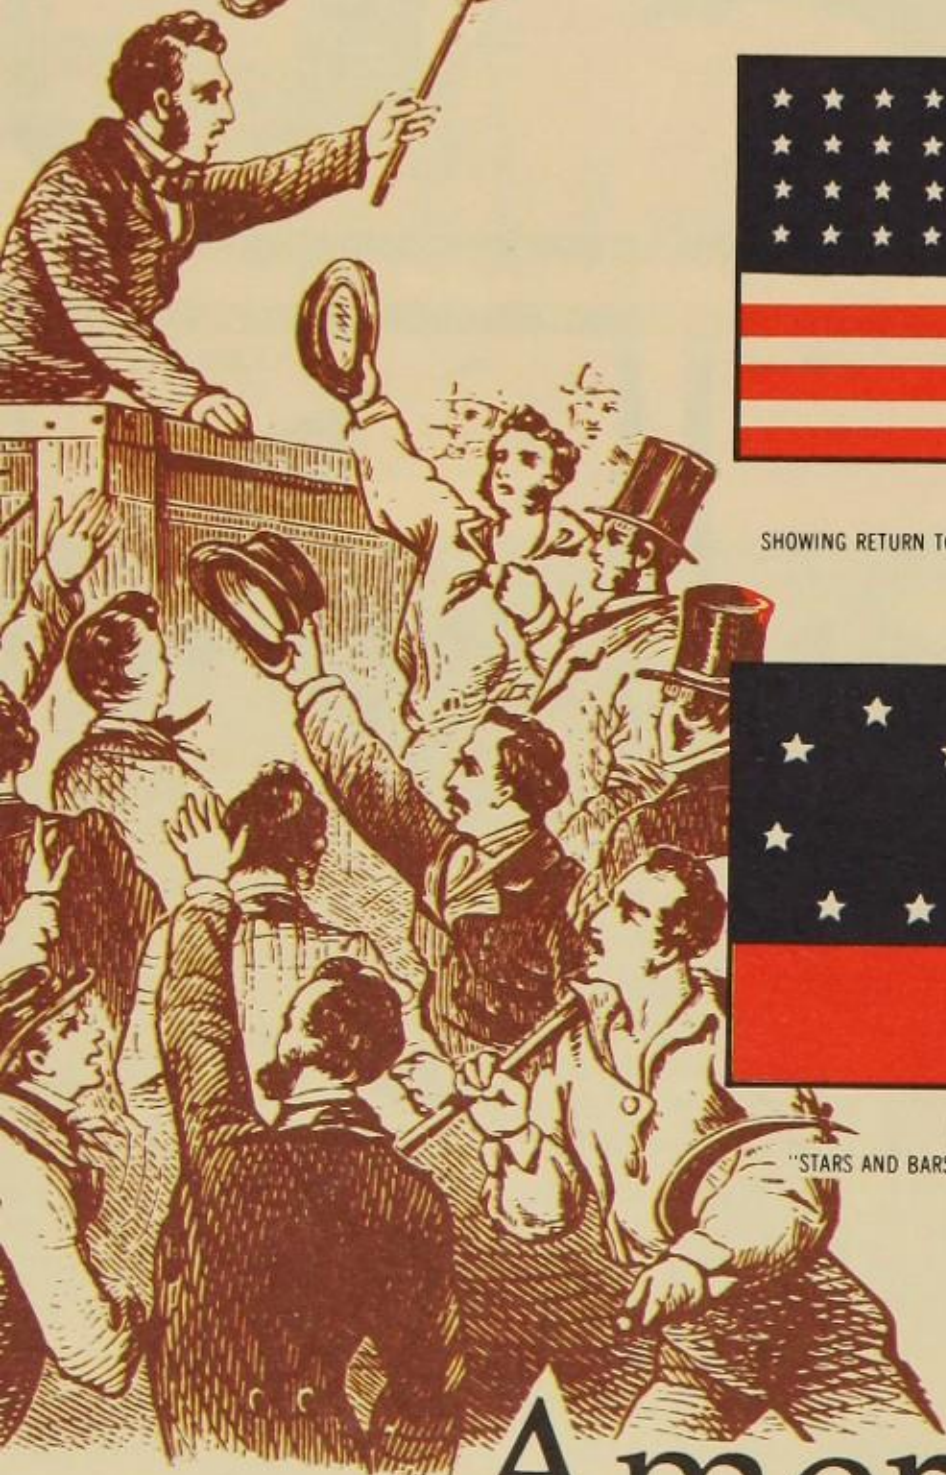

The Gold Rush caused hordes of settlers to take various routes to the Pacific Coast and its yellow riches. The railroads brought farmers and ranchers, along with the miners, who decided to stop all along the routes and build their homes. Railroads were instrumental in the quick civilization of the West, bringing people in numbers so large that the resentful Indians were finally pushed back into unwanted and infertile areas.

America became a haven for immigrants from every nation as freedom beckoned them to the teeming cities of the East, the plains, and the rich west coast farmlands.

Sick of the Civil War and with their own lands divided up and lost, many Southerners set out to "begin again" in the virgin territories. "Westering" soon became the national tradition as North and South moved together toward a new life. Americanism was advanced socially, by the hard-working, bare-fisted types who settled the frontiers.

NECESSITY IS THE MOTHER OF

SUBMARINE

TELEPHONE

PHONOGRAPH

Without realizing it, England instilled in the colonists the individual purpose and ingenuity that necessity breeds. With trade goods cut to a minimum, determined young leaders of the time set out to find ways of surviving without support from the Mother Country.

Agricultural methods and machines and labor saving devices were designed by our forefathers. As frontiers opened, Yankee genius had to conquer natural barriers in the wild new country, so suspension bridges were invented and methods of transportation were perfected for the purpose of opening the untamed areas. Later, they sought to section off the land with the revolutionary and controversial invention — barbed wire.

Cooper's 1-horsepower Tom Thumb train in 1830 and later, automobiles like the first Model T, and the 4-horsepower airplane; became American modes of travel from city to city and coast to coast.

Americans knew that the fertile lands of this nation would produce unequalled harvests if machines were designed to take over for man. They knew also that trade routes were difficult to travel and manufacturing would have to be done close to home. The cotton gin, textile looms, drill presses and a reaper which could cut six times as much grain as a hand scythe were some of the tools invented.

Protection for themselves and for their young country prodded inventors like Eli Whitney to perfect firearms and others to work on plans for the first submarine. Young inventors like Alexander Graham Bell and Thomas Edison (called the nation's most valuable citizen) visualized machines that would light the country and open up communication with those in the far corners of the nation. The telephone, telegraph, phonograph and the first light bulb were discovered in the late 1800's and early twentieth century. This American way of doing for oneself inspired many to become inventors in their own right. Some sought to save labor and mass-produce for profit while others envisioned not only riches, but excitement and adventure as they discovered ways to defy nature.

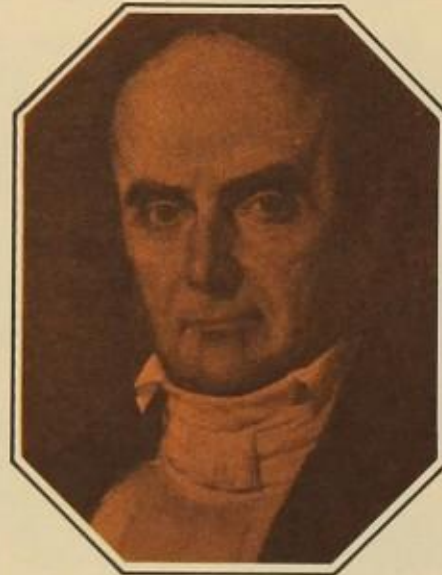

Throughout the past 200 years the American mind has been unleashed to take whatever paths necessary to fulfill the needs. In the last half-century, the pace of discovery has been overwhelming and inventions for the taming of the universe lie in the grasp of America while the habit of "finding a way" is ingrained in its people. The seeds of industrial America were sown by these inventors resulting in today's mechanized society.

THEY MADE THEIR MARK

Men and women who helped shape America's history

THOMAS PAINE, a bankrupt Quaker corsetmaker, sometime teacher, preacher and grocer wrote the most brilliant pamphlet of the American Revolution. His words in Common Sense reflected longings and aspirations that have remained part of American culture to this day.

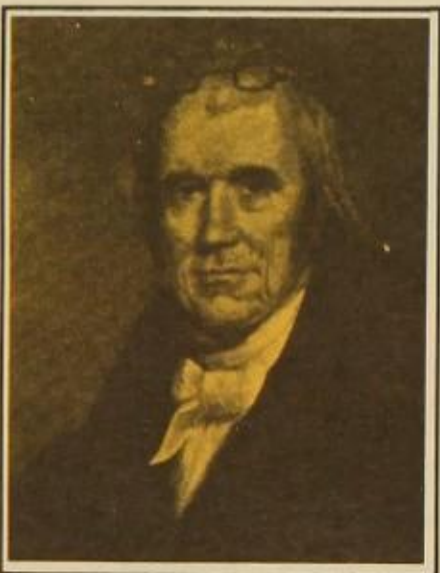

DANIEL WEBSTER chose law as a career and went on to become well-known in the courts and in politics. He was twice Secretary of State with an eye always to the Presidency which eluded him.

DOROTHEA DIX worked her entire adult life for reform of the existing penal and mental institutions in the mid-1800's. The first state hospital in the nation at Trenton, New Jersey was a direct result of her efforts.

The creator of the Cherokee alphabet, SEQUOYAH, was an artist, writer and silversmith. He used a simple 1821 English primer to compose the characters. The famous redwood trees of the Pacific coast bear his name.

Chief Justice JOHN MARSHALL established fundamental principles of American constitutional law. He is noted for his precedential declaration of a Congressional act as unconstitutional. He served through five administrations, from 1801-1835.

Born a slave in Maryland, FREDERICK DOUGLASS taught himself to read and write secretly and, at 21, escaped to freedom. He was an ardent abolitionist campaigning successfully for Negro suffrage and civil rights.

"The New Colossus," a sonnet composed by EMMA LAZARUS in 1883 is inscribed on a bronze tablet at the base of the Statue of Liberty. She organized relief for Jews and helped fugitives from the Czar's ghettos to establish homes in America.

AMELIA JENKS BLOOMER, best known for a mode of dress she adopted during her campaign for equal rights for women. Though ridiculed until she gave up the costume, the term "bloomer" came to symbolize woman's bid for individual freedom.

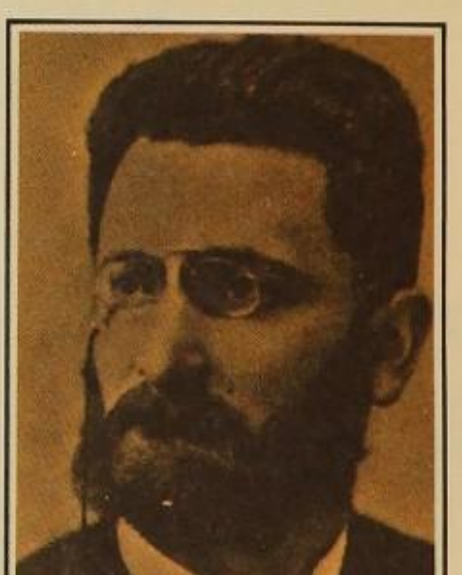

ABRAHAM LINCOLN epitomized the American dream of a humble young man ascending to the highest office of the land. He was superbly skilled at analyzing complex issues and translating them into meaningful words for the public. He was devoted to the preservation of the Union.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE wrote Uncle Tom's Cabin in an effort to make the whole nation realize the inhumanity of slavery. Her book resulted in one of the most popular and controversial plays on the American stage. The Civil War was kindled by this work.

HORACE GREELEY'S admonition to "Go West young man" was a rallying cry of the pioneers of America. He was founder and editor of the New York Tribune. He was best known for his philosophy of social reform and his unsuccessful bid for the Presidency in 1872.

JOSEPH PULITZER was the first journalist to reach a truly massive audience. His New York World newspaper was the symbol of "yellow journalism" with its sensationalism aimed at the common man.

ANDREW CARNEGIE was a giant in the railroad and steel industries. He believed that it was the duty of a rich man to distribute his wealth during his lifetime. To that end, he established 2800 libraries and many cultural halls throughout America.

A lifetime passion for machinery led HENRY FORD to Detroit where, in 1896, he completed his first motor vehicle. The Ford Motor Company manufactured the first "Model T" in 1909.

One of the most elementary symbols of the American way of life was established when J. EDGAR HOOVER and his Federal Bureau of Investigation "G-men" set out to clean up the country. His career spanned over 40 years.

The motion-picture industry was revolutionized in America and DAVID WARK GRIFFITH became known as the "Father of the film art" and "king of directors" for his part in this revolution. His camera techniques were the pioneering steps of the industry.

Serving an unprecedented four terms as President of the United States, FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT was a popular leader who made extensive use of fireside radio chats to explain his plans and generate enthusiasm to push them through Congress.

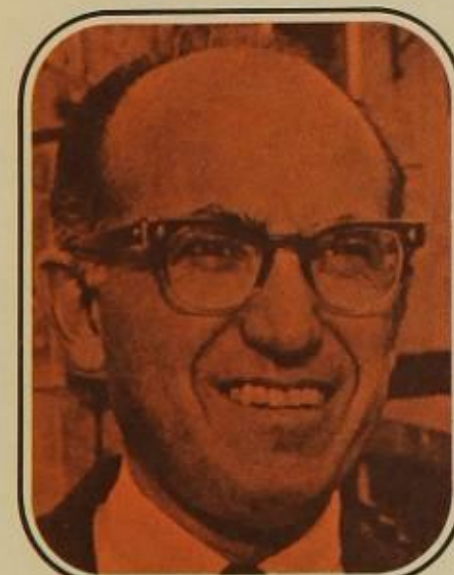

ROBERT FROST's poetry was clear, understated, well-metered and told the stories of rural America. He was a four-time winner of the Pulitzer Prize and has been called America's poet laureate.

A plain, homely woman with tremendous appeal to the masses, who was always in the "thick of things" describes ELEANOR ROOSEVELT and her lifetime of politicking beside her husband during his four terms.

THURGOOD MARSHALL is the first Negro to serve as a justice of the Supreme Court. His law career was aimed primarily at civil rights cases.

The crippling poliomyelitis was conquered by DR. JONAS SALK in 1953 after more than 25 years of research. Polio was reduced by 96% in less than ten years. SALK's research continues in California at the Salk Institute.

MARTIN LUTHER KING was a leader in the cause of civil rights. He had been a pastor before turning to the cause of segregation. His leadership earned him the Nobel Peace Prize in 1964. He was assassinated by James Earl Ray in 1968.

Lieutenant Colonel JOHN GLENN started America's travels to outer space when he became the first American to orbit the earth. He had been an aviator in World War II and a test pilot in peacetime.

GERALD R. FORD, the first President to achieve the office without an election. In 1974, through a series of scandalous events, the Nixon administration toppled and FORD reached the position through approval by Congress.

PEARS' SOAP

RELIEF for the DISTRESSED and BALM for the WOUNDED is found in PERRY DAVIS'S VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.

Imagine buying that acre of land you have spotted for $1.25! Or, even at the higher price of $10. Those are the prices offered to our founding fathers to encourage settlement of the wilderness areas of this nation.

A stage wasn't the most comfortable way to go, but you could get from city to city for as little as $3 — at the amazing pace of six miles per hour.

Compare today's wages with a 12-hour day in the early 1800's. A man earned 50¢ a day. Of course his dollar bought a little more than today's. Butter in 1826 was about 5¢ lb. in the Midwest; eggs, 3¢ doz.; corn 6¢ bu., wheat, 25¢ bu.; and a cow could be bought for $5.

With travel becoming the American tradition, you could choose train, wagon, horseback or the water. A canal ride, with bed and board included, averaged 3 or 4¢ per mile. And when you reached your destination, you could sit down to a 5, or even 10 course meal for 25¢. (Ladies 20¢, in consideration of appetite.)

Farmers in the early 1800's could own the famous McCormick Reaper for a mere $100. But the Civil War increased prices as the machine became the first item farmers could buy on time payments for the sum of $1,500.

A good suit of clothes then might cost $1.95 and ladies waists (blouses) were marketed for 49¢ to $3.50 with a whole dress pattern priced at 15¢.

Cookstoves, "quality-satisfaction guaranteed," could cost you $29.25 at $4 per month and a dandy heating stove could set you back as much as $5.73 and up. The first electric refrigerator cost $900 — which might be enough to make you faint on your 1907 fainting couch that had cost a mere $7.85.

Your new baby travelled in the height of fashion in a wicker sleeping coach (stroller) for the sum of $12.04. If you had $1,500 in 1903 you could show off in one of the first automobiles.

Ah, those were the days. Some of the current prices are reminiscent of those days, but at frontier prices, which were a whole different story. Hardy pioneers had to pay $2 a pound for sugar, too. And the same for a pound of coffee or pepper. Those items were only 15¢ per pound back in civilized St. Louis. Flour was marked up 100 times for sale to the frontiersmen and during the famous Gold Rush, that precious commodity went for $400 a barrel.

HISTORY OF NEKOOSA

Although settled quite recently, the Nekoosa area has figured in much of the early history of the Wisconsin River valley. As far as is known, it was first seen by a white in 1661 when Father Menard, a French Jesuit, and his two Indian guides paddled from the headwaters of the Wisconsin River to Swallow Rock opposite the present site of Nekoosa. From there, Father Menard attempted a portage to the Black River and was never heard from again.

Twelve years later, another Jesuit, Pere Marquette, followed Father Menard; he tried to find some trace of his predecessor, but was unsuccessful. Menard and Marquette were followed by many Jesuits who floated down the river in canoes. They often made camp with the Fox Indians in the village at Swallow Rock.

In 1767, Jonathon Carver, an English adventurer traveled extensively up and down the Wisconsin and her western tributaries. He received a grant of land from the Sioux including all territory north and west of a point on the Wisconsin River now identified as Swallow Rock and extending to the Mississippi. Carver then returned to England to organize what he called "a company to people the Ouisconsin." However, he died of starvation before he had attracted much attention to his scheme.

The industrial possibilities of the five rapids in the Swallow Rock area were first recognized in 1827 by Lewis Cass, governor of the Michigan Territory, which included most of Wisconsin. Upon his return to Green Bay, he reported these possibilities to Daniel Whitney.

Wood Ave. after its paving in 1927.

The only wagon roads into Nekoosa in the early 1890's from the west were Lynn Hill Road and around Moccasin Creek. The winter of 1894-1895 George Wood opened the road through the Swamp and the hill now known as Wood Hill.

The Interurban Railroad from Rapids to Nekoosa began operation in 1910 and continued until 1932 when it was replaced by buses.

The only means of crossing the River at Point Basse by team was on the ice or fording the river at low water.

A curry plied the river at Nekoosa--the ferry located approximately where the bridge crosses the river. The current was used to carry the ferry across until the dam was built in 1893. After that an overhead pulley system was built and the ferry was propelled across by hand.

In 1831, Daniel Whitney obtained a permit from the War Department and the Indians to erect the first saw mill in Wisconsin on the Wisconsin River to be located near the five rapids just below the site of the present Nekoosa mill. The rapids became known as Whitney's Rapids. The settlement which sprang up around the mill was known as Point Basse.

Point Basse was a small settlement of about a dozen homes, a general store, a ferry boat and Bob Wakeley's tavern, an overnight stop on the New Lisbon-Plover Stage Coach Line.

The area around Point Basse was an early rendezvous of many Indians. In those early days deer were very plentiful. There were many fur bearing animals such as mink, martin, beaver, muskrat, bear, skunk, raccoon, and wolves. Fish were very plentiful, especially on the rapids.

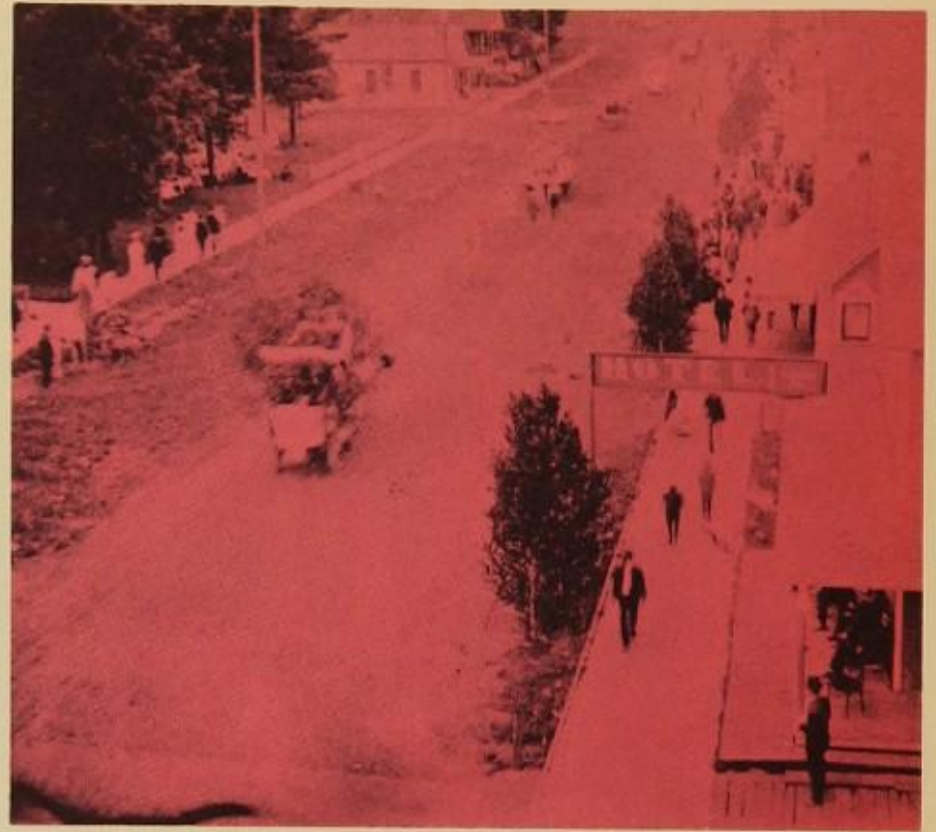

This 1900-foot bridge across the Wisconsin River was completed in 1916 to replace the ferry. In 1935 a foot bridge was built to supplement the automobile bridge. The bridge was replaced by the present bridge in 1963.

Bass, pike, pickeral, sturgeon, and muskies were in abundance. Along the banks grew large quantities of blueberries, wintergreen and cranberries.

In 1854, Moses M. Strong purchased one half interest in the Point Basse saw mill. In 1856, he purchased the other half and sold it to the Nekoosa Lumber Company in 1857.

A dam was built across the river a short distance above the present Nekoosa dam. Shortly after the dam was completed in 1861 and before a new saw mill could be built, high water washed out a section of the dam. Soon thereafter, the company went bankrupt and was returned to Strong.

In the years following the failure of the lumber company, people deserted the community--Whitney's mill was gradually demolished by beavers; Wakeley's tavern lay deserted. For more than 20 years--from 1861 to the 1890's--Nekoosa was a ghost town, unfrequented except by an occasional wagon passing through on the muddy road from New Lisbon to Grand Rapids.

When the Green Bay railroad came to Grand Rapids in 1872 followed by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul the next year, the few remaining settlers left for Grand Rapids--attracted by the railroads.

In 1887, George and Frank Wood purchased the assets of the defunct Nekoosa Lumber Company from Mr. Strong at a price of $4,500. A year later the property and rights were sold to Thomas E. Nash for $8,000. Mr. Nash in turn transferred them in 1893 to the newly created Nekoosa Paper Company for $50,000 worth of Nekoosa capital stock.

The pavillion located near Moccasin Creek was built on springs. (Below is the inside of pavillion.)

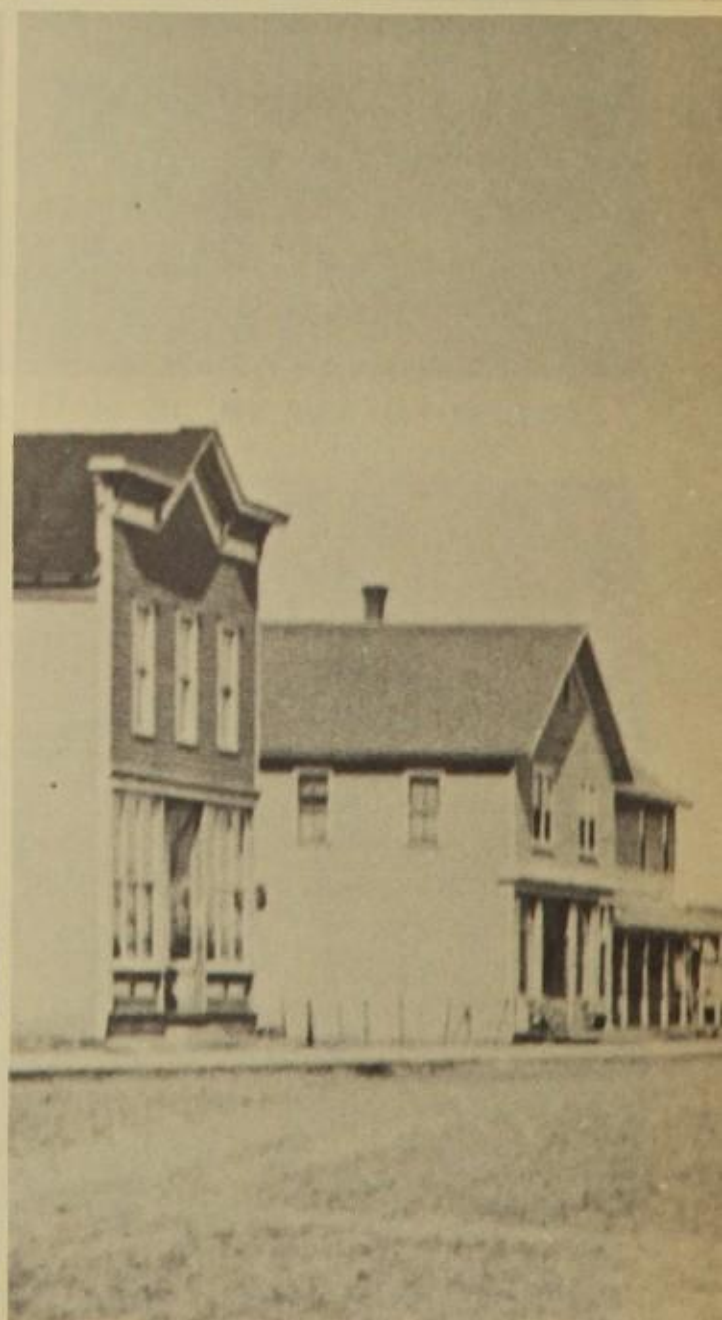

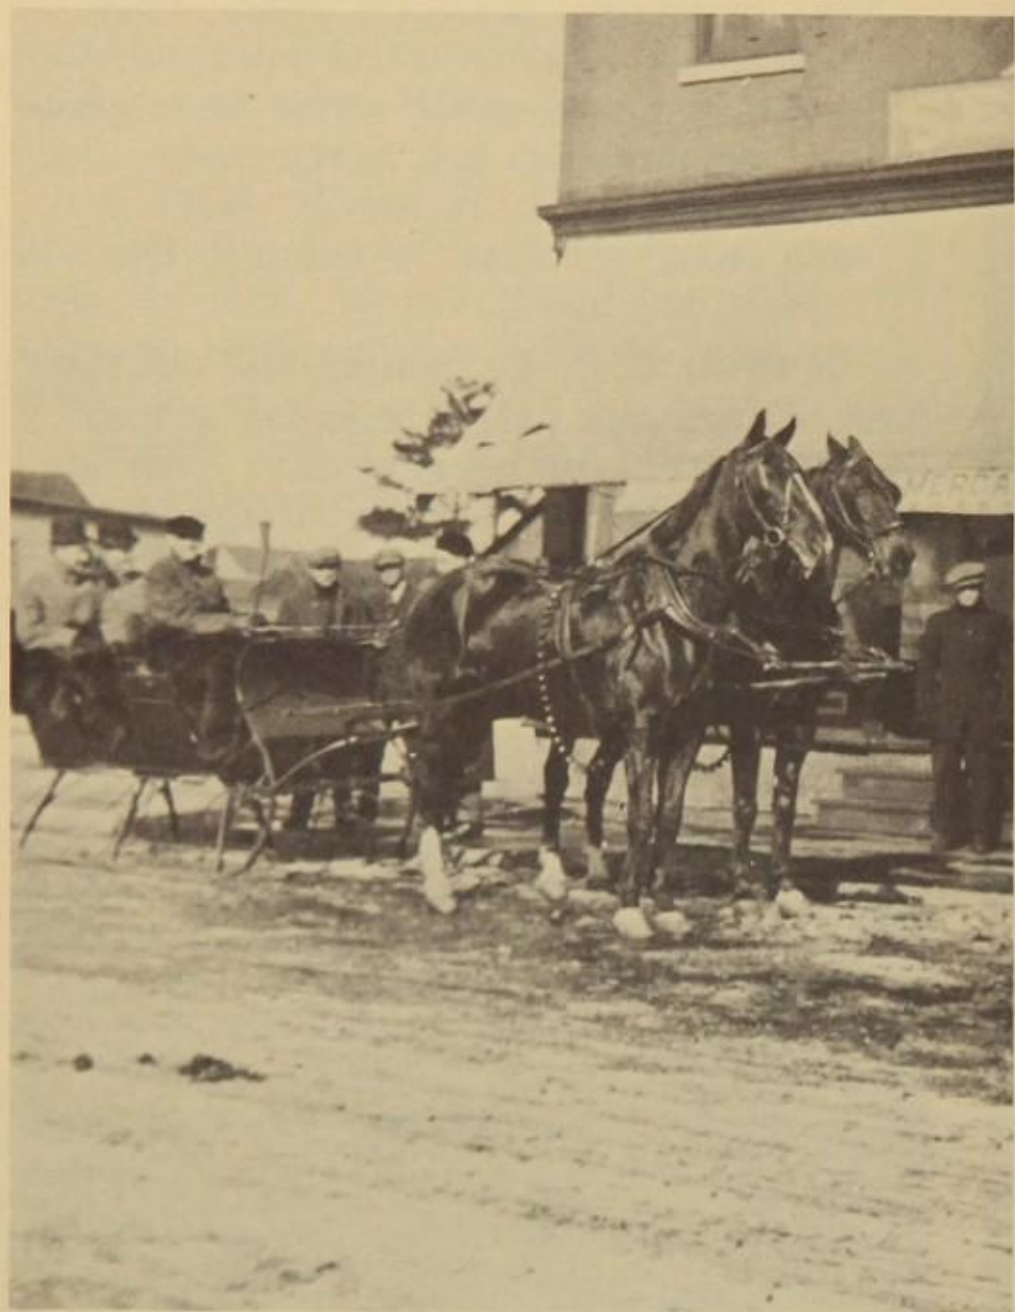

The Herick House--one of Nekoosa's several hotels which housed newly arrived families and workers who came to work in the mill.

The Nekoosa School. In 1912 Alexander High school was opened; an addition was completed in 1924.

Sacred Heart Elementary School in 1909.

Market Street was paved in 1926. After 1910, streets, businesses and a few homes were being lit by gas light being manufactured by the Nekoosa Gas Light Company. The company went out of business after 1915. The greatest contributing factor was the incorporation of the Nekoosa Edwards light and Power Company in 1913. In 1900 the first water mains were laid in Nekoosa.

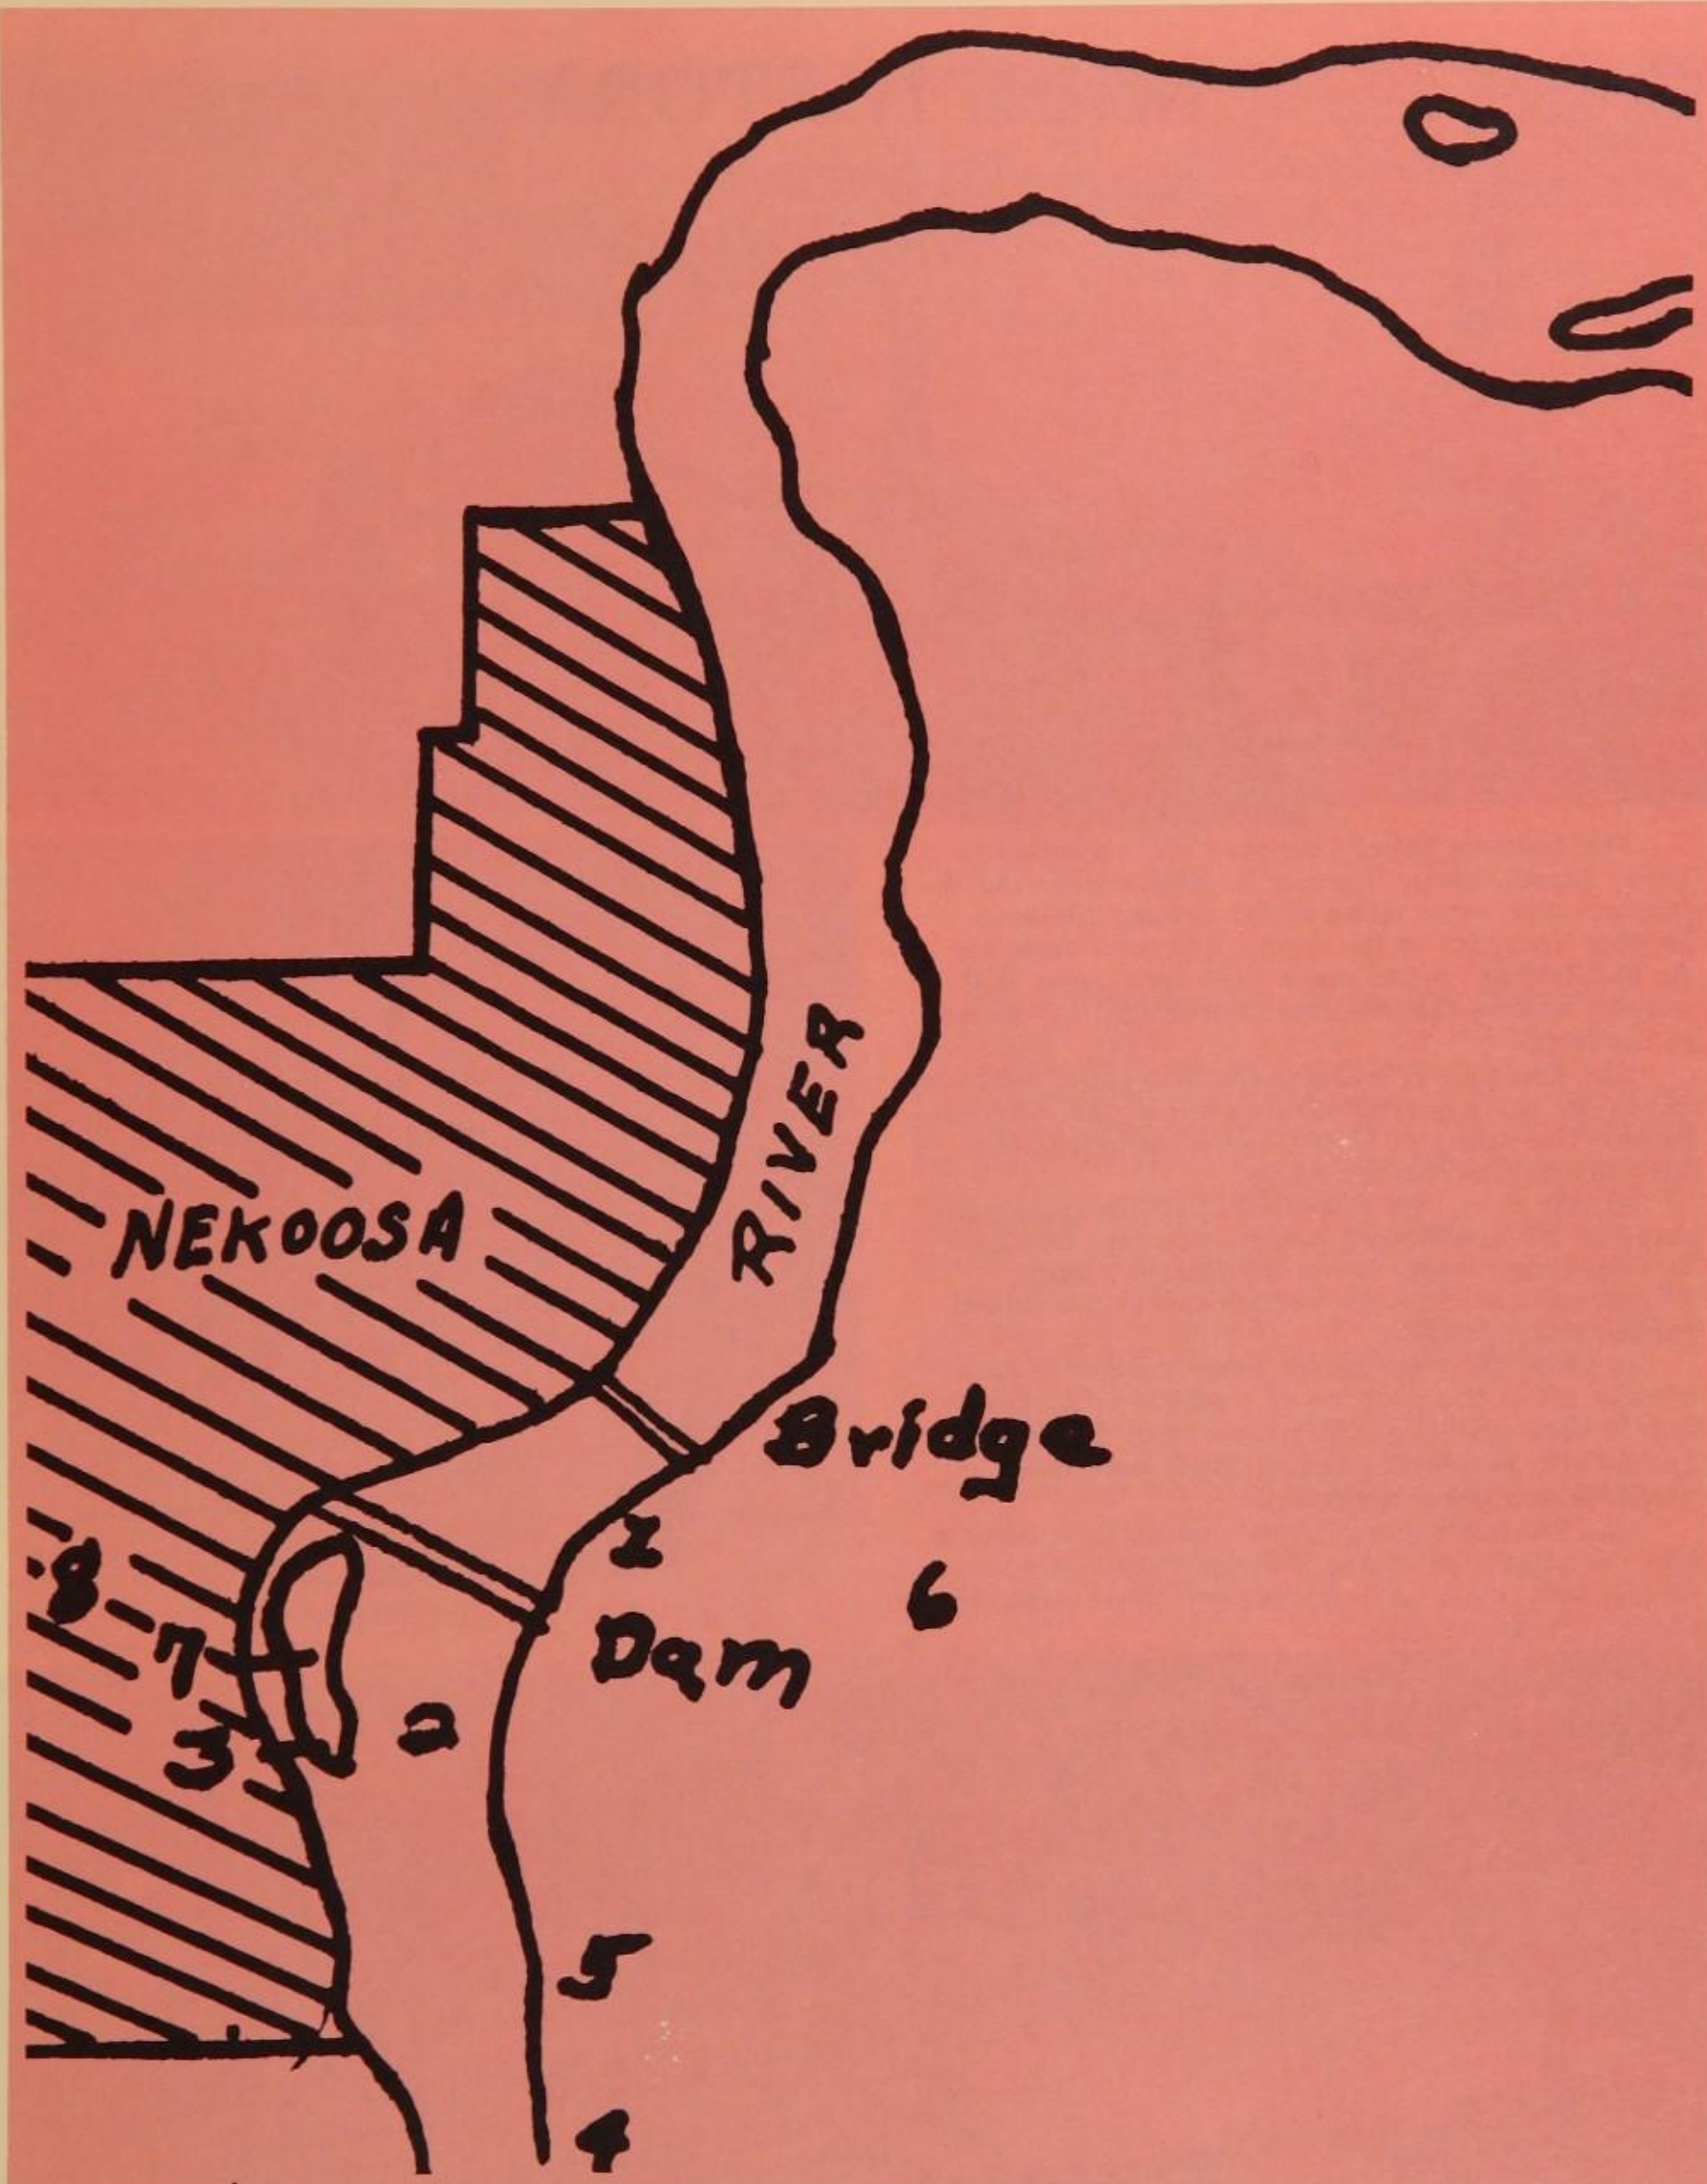

At the same time, the Nekoosa Paper Company authorized the sale of village lots; new settlers moved in quickly and the village was incorporated the same year. The first house was built by Frank Wood in 1893 on Wood Road about 100 yards from the mill property.

Nekoosa became a city in 1925.

MILL HISTORY

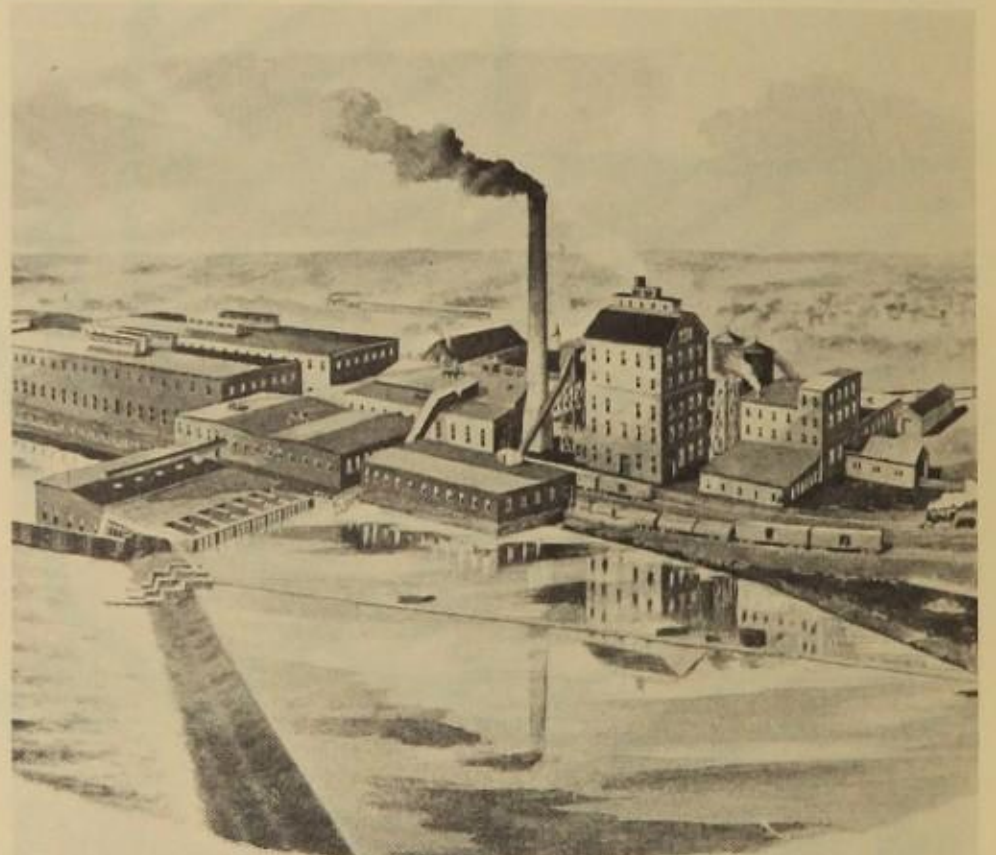

The Nekoosa Paper Company was organized in 1893. Shortly after, Thomas E. Nash transferred the property and water rights of the defunct Nekoosa Lumber Company to the newly organized company for $50,000 of capital stock. The new paper mill was the first on the Wisconsin River and the second in the state.

The first task in building the new paper mill was to harness the valuable water power of the Wisconsin River. The spring of 1893 saw the beginning of a 888-foot dam across the River.

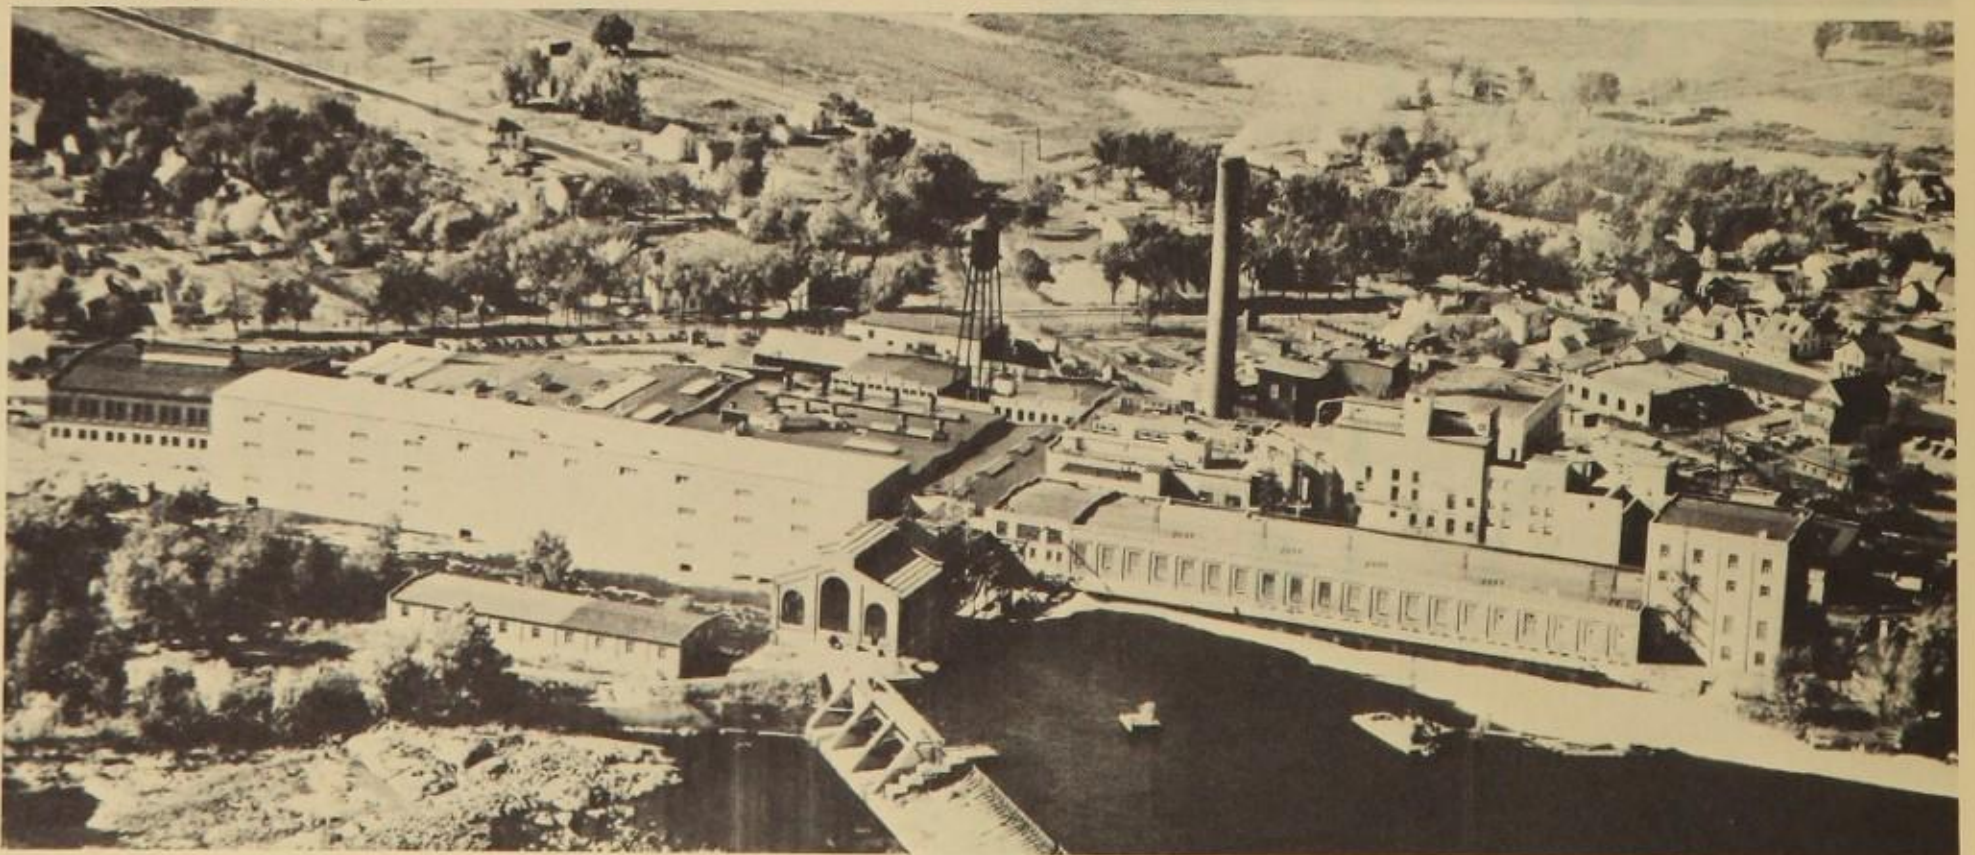

At this time, the Nekoosa Paper Company consisted of a boiler house, beater, grinder, machine and finishing rooms, and a blacksmith's shop. Twenty-five workers were employed in this initial papermaking process.

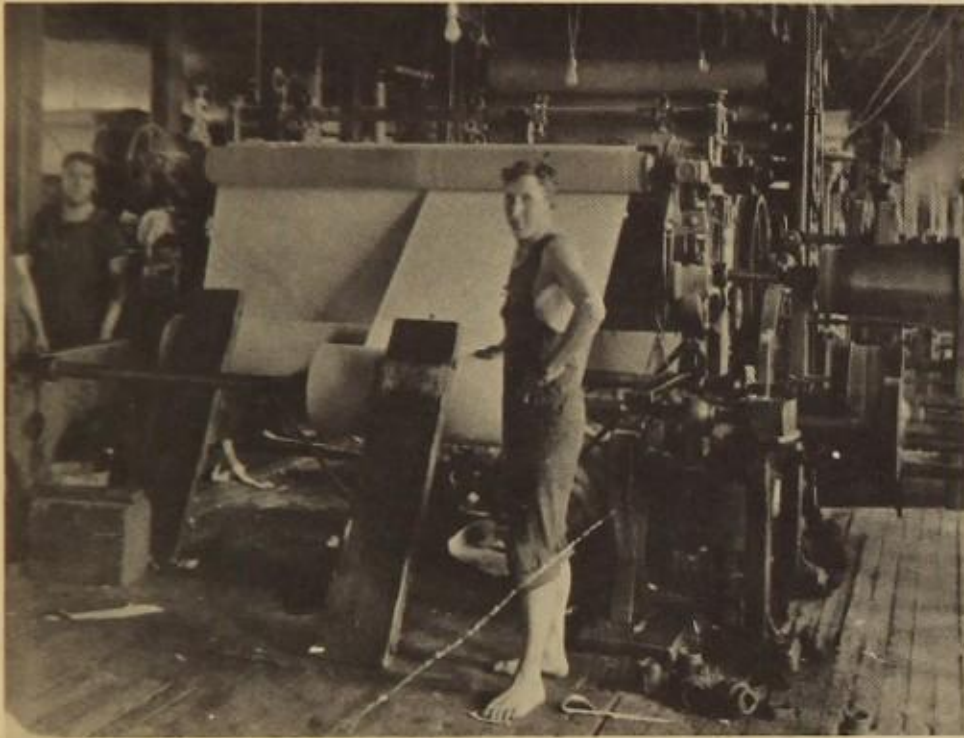

In 1896, the demand for more and better pulp brought about the addition of a sulfite mill. Each day 33 tons of sulfite pulp were cooked in two digesters and 55 tons of printing paper were being made on four paper machines.

An 1896 labor census report indicates: a crew of 130 was employed by the Nekoosa Paper Company. Of this 130, eight were women and three were boys under 18 years of age.

THE NEKOOSA PAPER CO.,
NEKOOSA, WIS.

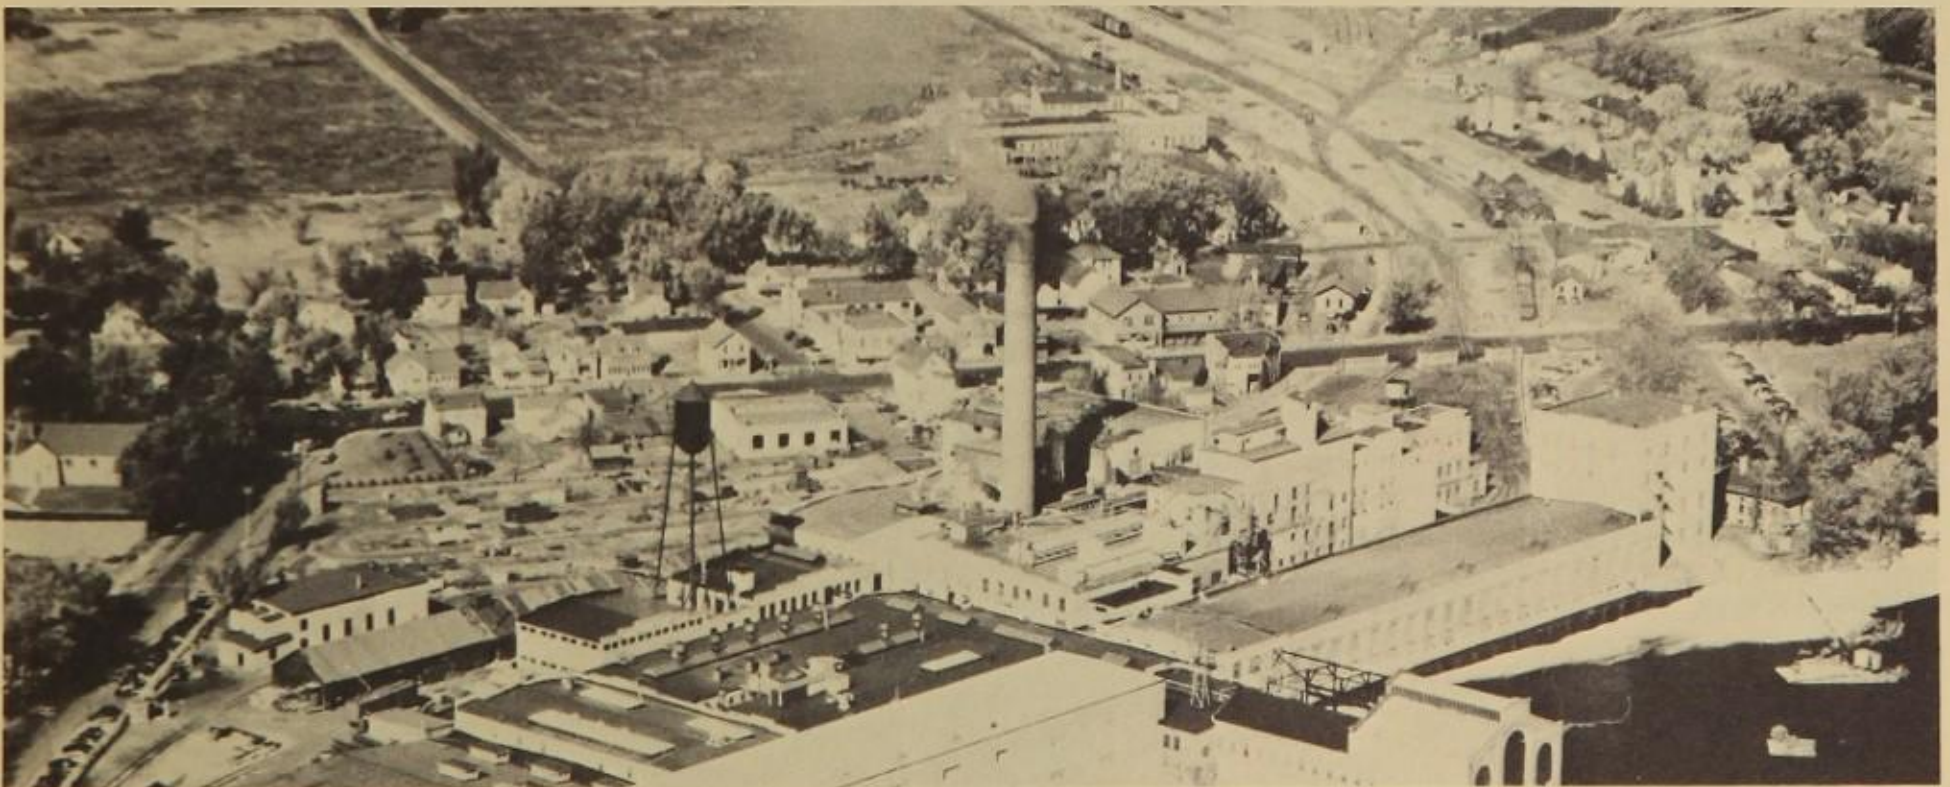

Inside the mill (1920's), note because of the wetness most men went barefoot. Today this is strictly in violation of safety rules, steel toed shoes must be worn. Wages 40¢ per hour. Work day ranged from 8-16 hours with no overtime.

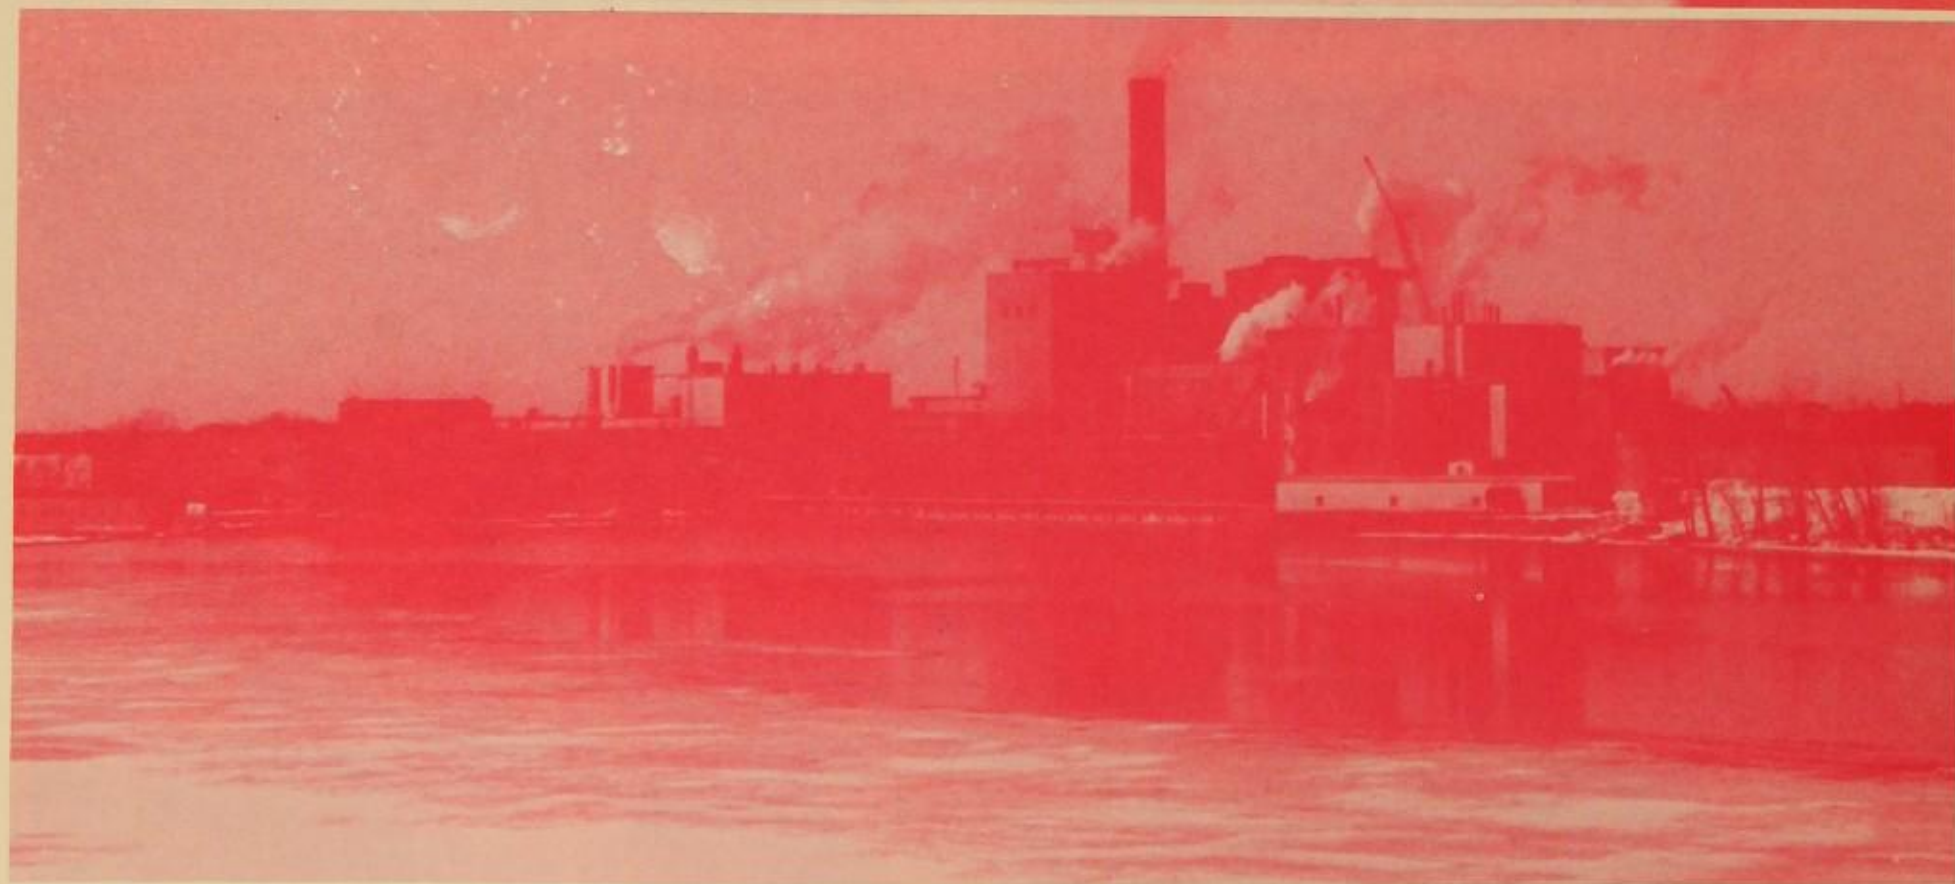

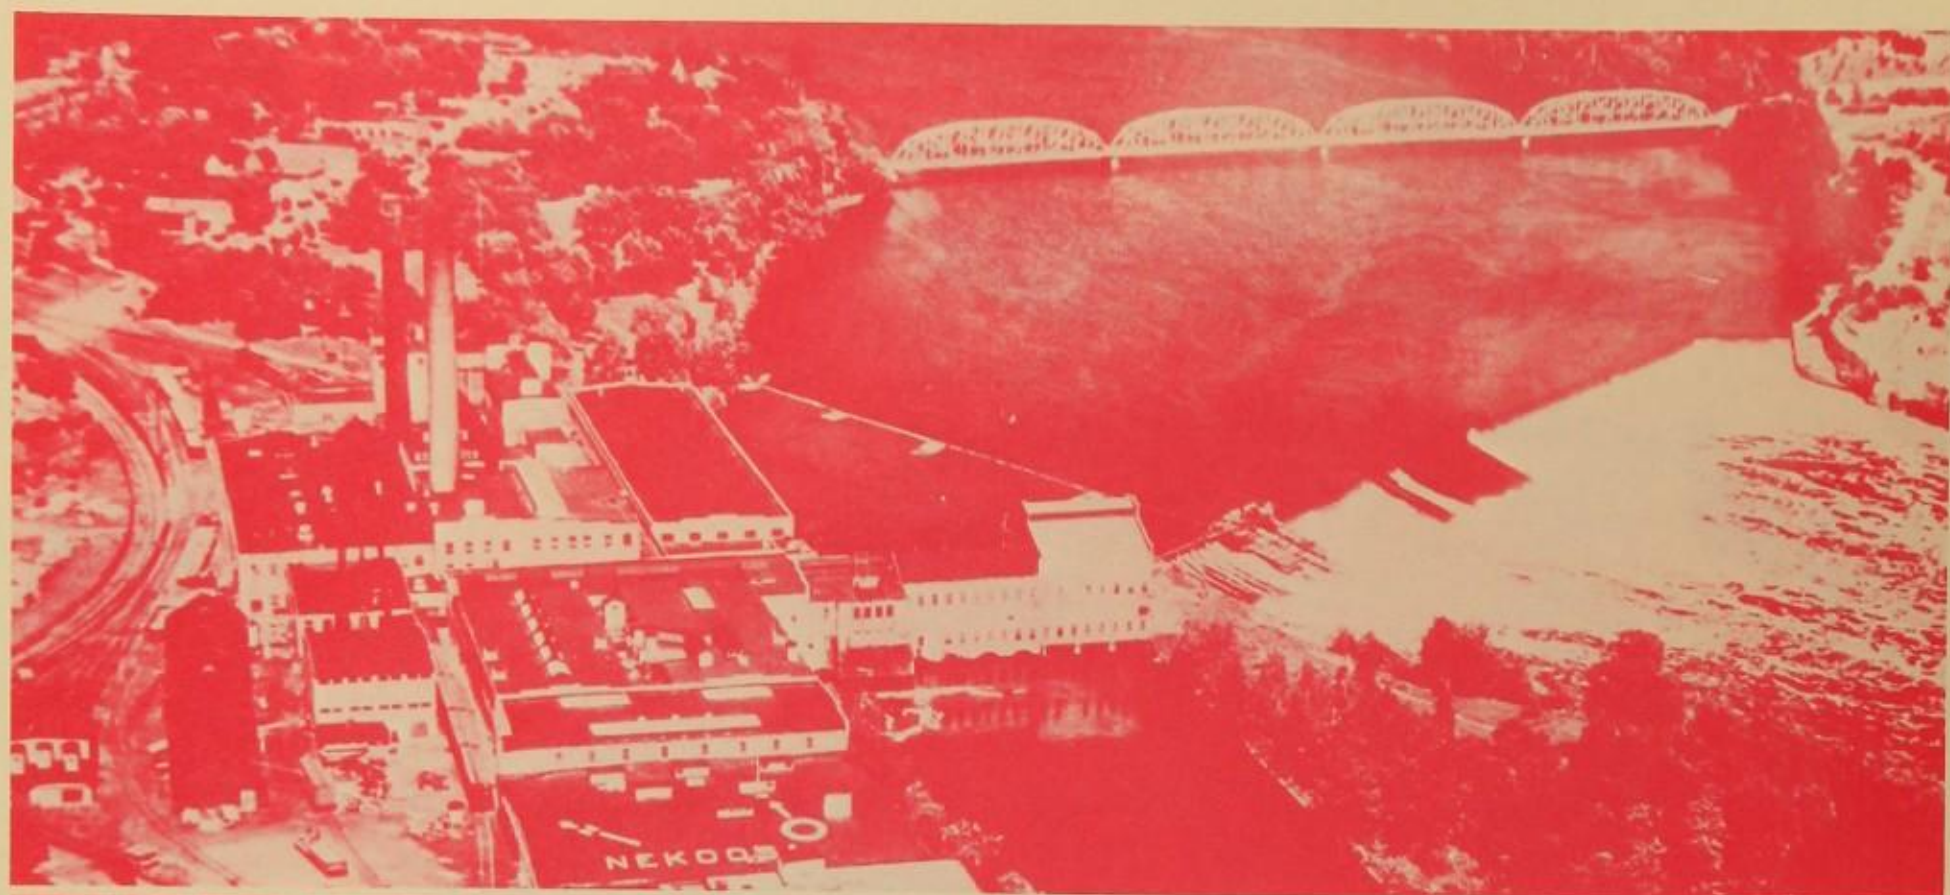

The day consisted of two 12-hour shifts. Overtime to the extent of a 15-hour day without any time-and-a-half was very common.

The standard rate for women was 75 cents a day; men received $1.25 and up. "Men hauling rocks on the dam received $1.75 per day, but that is hard work and the jobs are all filled up . . ." The usual rate was $2.50 a day for a man with a team; the rate for a horse alone was 75 cents.

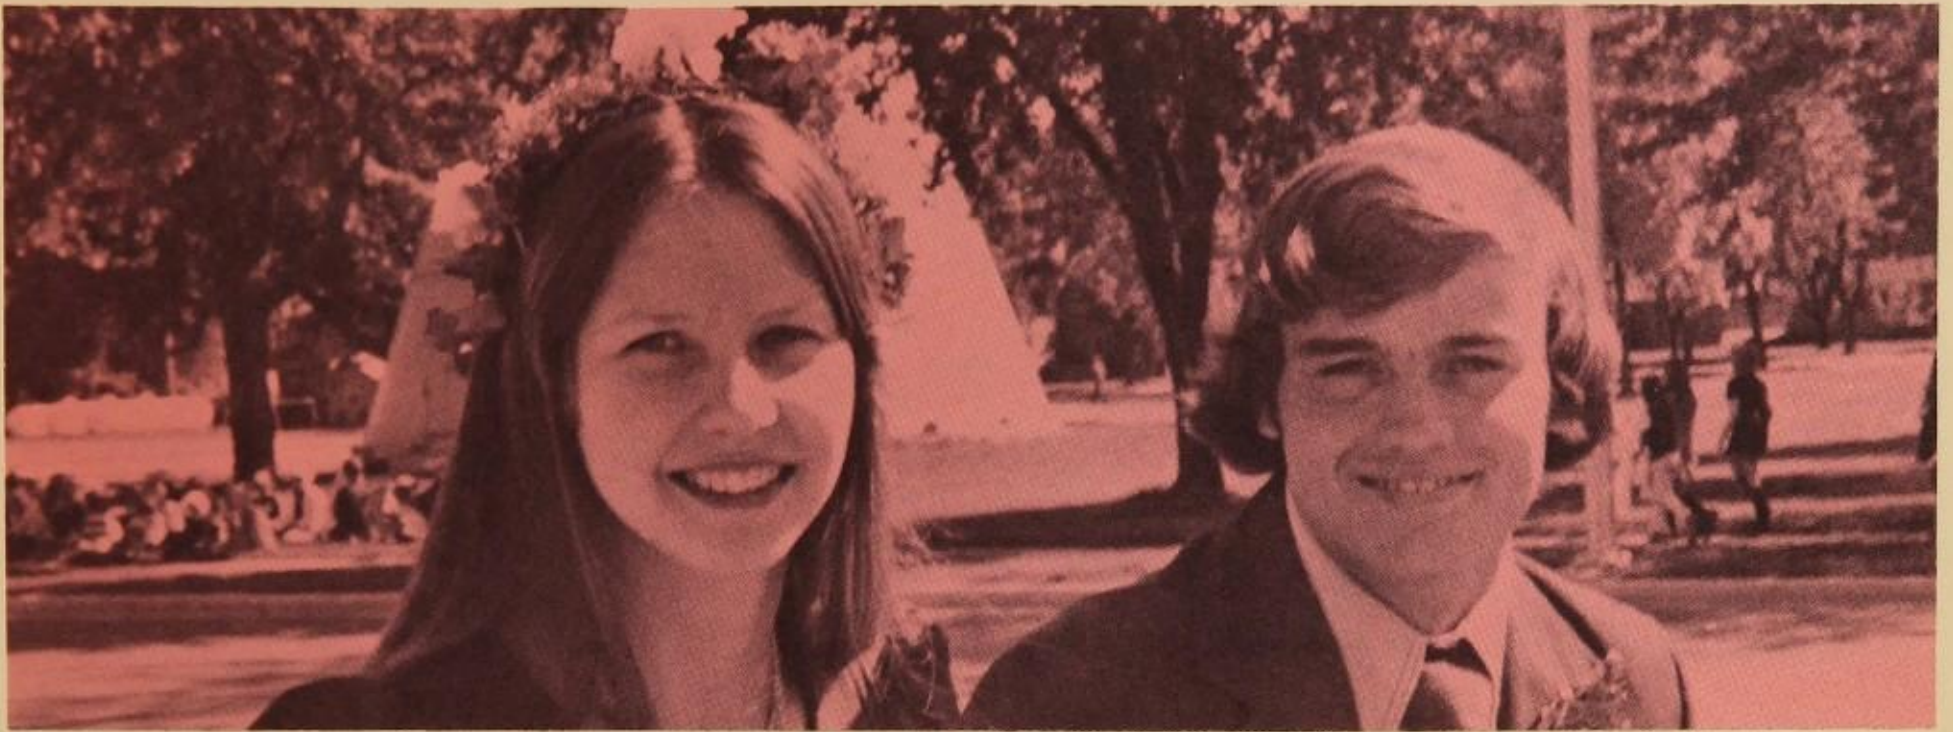

In 1908, L.M. Alexander and Thomas E. Nash combined their operations and bought the Centralia Pulp and Paper Company to form the Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Company.

The Nekoosa-Edwards Paper Company and the Great Northern Paper Company merged in 1970 to form the Great Northern Nekoosa Paper Company.

Our school days are over. We have grown up together for twelve years. It seems like yesterday we were hanging our coats in the cloak room and now we are wearing a cap and gown. Our final four years have held the most memories for us. In high school we matured and became young adults. During these last years our class built floats, decorated for the prom, planned our class trip, but mainly we worked together as a class towards a final goal. Now college, technical school, or a job are in our future. We will never pass this way again. We should cherish what we came to know and love, also we should hold fast to our memories because they're all that's left us. We the "Class of 1976", wish the best to all the students of Nekoosa High School now and in the future.

The Student Council is a group of elected students who meet together regularly to promote citizenship, scholarship, leadership, and human relations within the school and community. The student body is represented by three members from each class plus the four class presidents for a total of 16 members. There are three standing committees for which members volunteer--the executive committee, the publicity committee, and the school sign committee. Projects the members are involved in include the homecoming parade, the Christmas assembly, freshman orientation, school dances, and community service projects.

Checking shelves

Busy working

This year marks the beginning of a long range plan for the library where an attempt is being made to develop a unified program involving audio-visual and print resources to best meet the needs of the student via viewing, listening and manipulations of machinery and media.

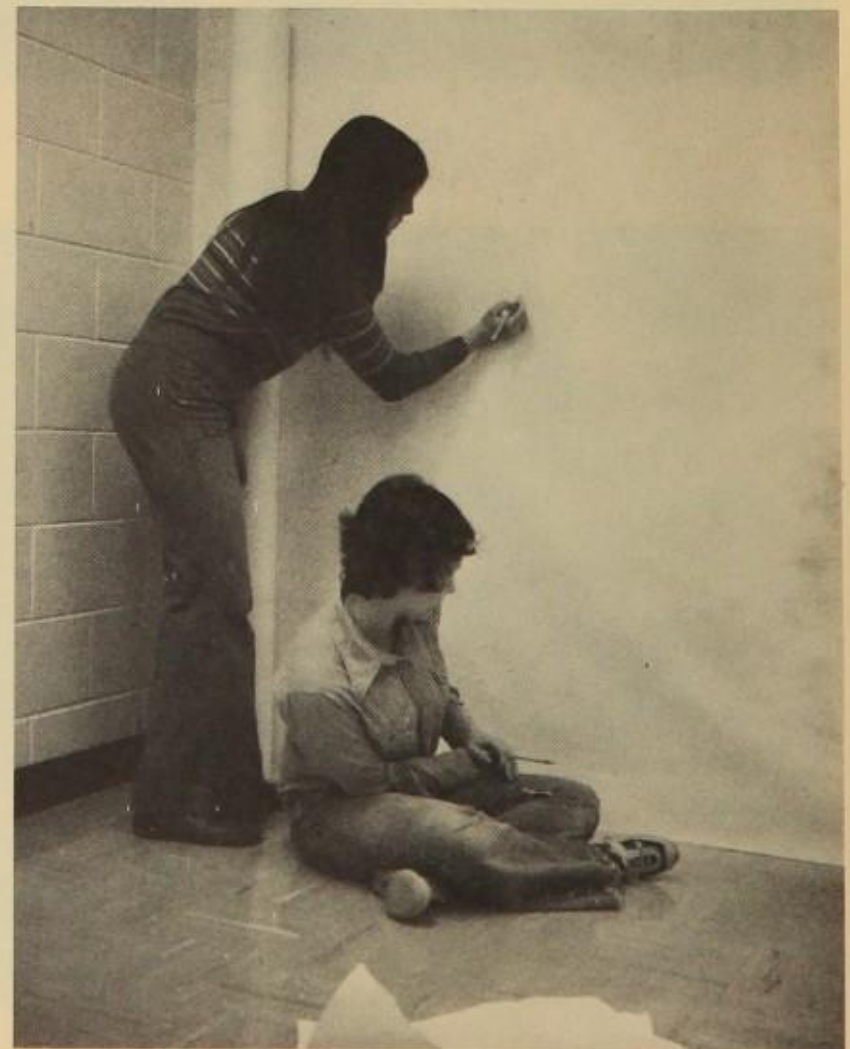

These first steps have been taken to accomplish these goals: Magazines have been moved from the general reading room to a controlled area to minimize danger of mutilation or unauthorized removal. Over 10,500 books have been shifted, along with their shelving, into one compact area; resulting vacated areas near the windows and electrical outlets are now occupied with twelve carrels which can be used by individual students for their listening and viewing; filmstrip viewers, slide projectors, cassette players, earphones, and other audio-visual media has been acquired and cataloged to meet student need and demand; additional staff, namely Mrs. Carole Dorn, has been hired to help meet the pressures of providing each student with the information he needs at the moment in whatever format best meets his needs and skills. Our goal is to help make learning happen!

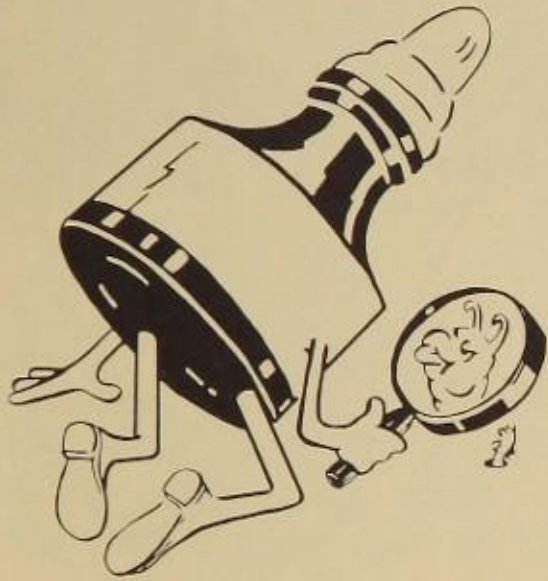

FRONT ROW: Sue Baron, Mary Lou Steege, Kriss Oleson, Laurie Sullivan, Sue Rumble, Sandy Bauer, Cindy Holden, Mrs. Macomber. SECOND ROW: Betsie Renner, Sherry Tracy, Terri Kouba, Michele Rusch, Joan Ystad, Betsy Resheske, Laura Holden, Patti Rowe. The pep club consists of 45 members, mostly girls who add posters, pep and participation for all the sports and activities at Nekoosa High School. Many hours of work go into the decoration of the school.

This year we do not have officers because there are so many members. We had a parent night for the last football game honoring all athletes' parents, a cookie--coffee get-together, candy sales and various money-making activities.

KAREERS KLUB

Kareers Klub is a club designed to inform junior and senior girls about different careers that are available to them after they graduate from high school. Each month we try to get a guest speaker to tell us a little bit about the career that they have chosen to go into. They explain why they chose this career and the requirements for it.

The main money making project for Kareers Klub is the selling of candy bars.

The club is open to all junior and senior girls and they can join at the beginning of the year.

The advisor of Kareers Klub is Mrs. Nelson. This year's officers include: President--Janeen Hasenohrl, Vice President--Gretchen Bennett, Secretary--Mary Pazurek, and Treasurer--Lynette Griffin.

Kareers Klub is a fun club to belong to but at the same time you learn a lot about what careers are open to you in the future.

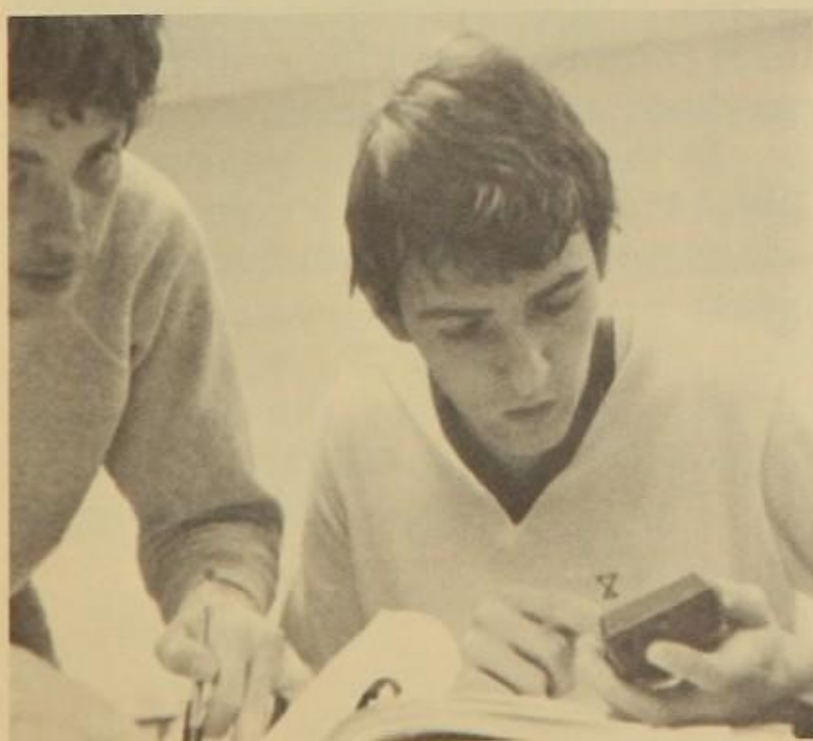

The computer club is set up for people who are interested in taking part in the complex world of computers. Computer programming is not the only thing taught in the club. Solving a problem in a logical manner is one of the main things the club's members learn.

The students work with IBM 370 computer which Nekoosa Paper Inc. has generously offered along with their time and effort to the computer club. Special thanks goes out to Nekoosa Paper Inc. and also Mrs. Chapley who acts as shuttle between the computer and the club.

The programming field covers everything from the stock market to rocketry. A learning experience which the club members will remember in the future years.

At the beginning of the year the Conservation Club sponsors a gun safety course for freshmen and sophomores who want to go hunting by themselves. You learn how to handle a gun safely and learn the rules of handling a gun.

In the school forest we cut down pulp wood to sell to the mill. This money that we make goes toward sending the hardworking conservationists to a camp called "Trees for Tomorrow Camp." Here you would go on various field trips and learn different methods of conservation.

In the spring of the year we plant trees, to replace some of the trees we have cut down during the year.

The object of the Society is to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership and cultural values, and to encourage the development of character in the student.

Membership in the Vellum Chapter is based upon scholarship, service, leadership, and character. Seniors eligible to the chapter must have a scholastic average of B or its equivalent; and juniors must have a scholastic average of B+ or 3.5. This scholastic level of achievement remains fixed and is the required level of achievement for admission to membership.

Central Wisconsin Mathematics League gives all students a chance to compete and compare their mathematical skills against students throughout Central Wisconsin. Some of the best students and schools in the state participate in this league, and Nekoosa is proud to be a member.

Competition is held at the University of Wisconsin--Stevens Point at three meets a school year. Twelve students from each school participate in groups of four in three categories. The categories are geometry, algebra and advanced math.

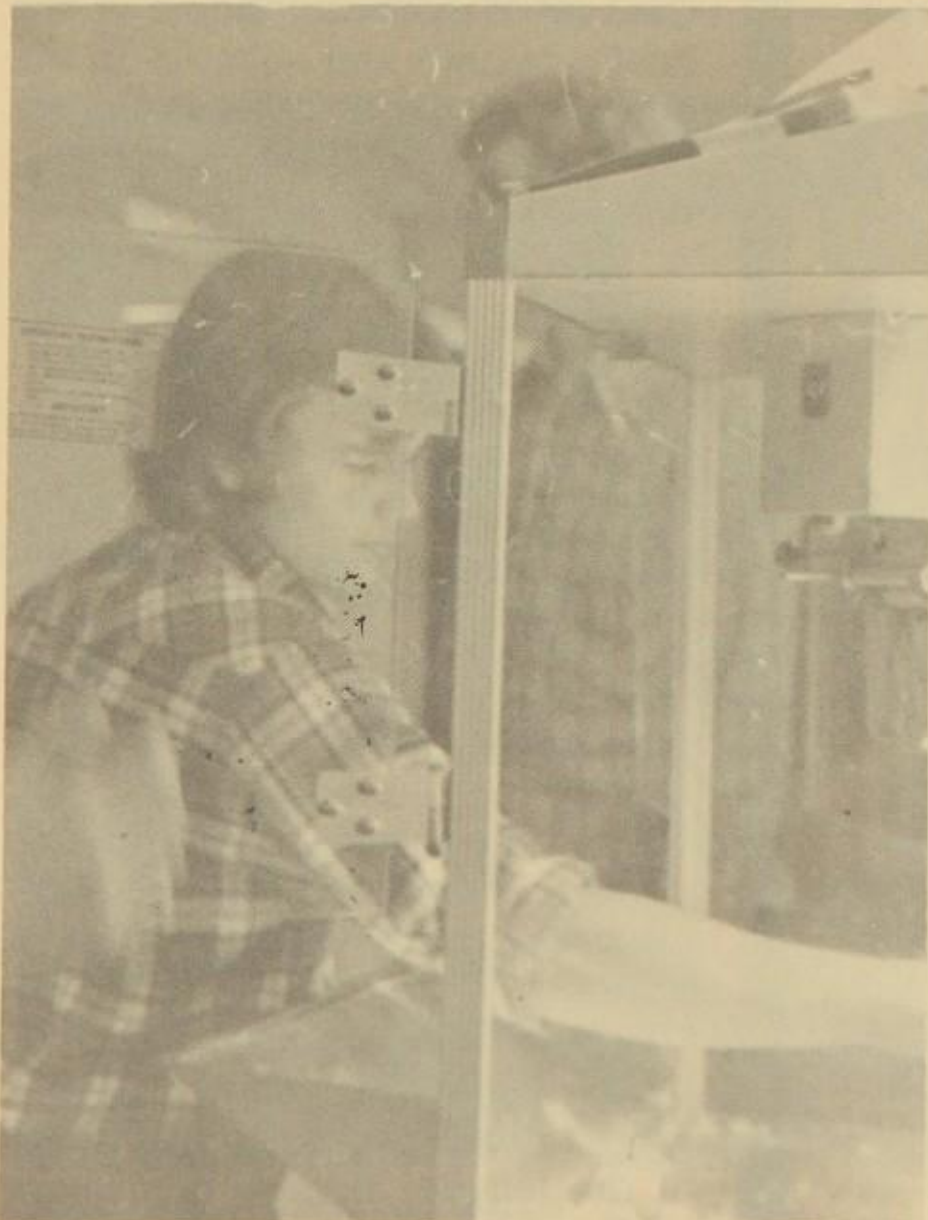

The students take approximately a hour long test covering almost everything in their category. The students and the school are then scored and are compared to others in and out of their respective school division.

Awards and prizes, of which Nekoosa has its share, are rewarded to outstanding members of the league. Sentry Insurance of Stevens Point and Employers Insurance of Wausau provide financial support for CWML.

The Varsity Club is an organization to promote athletics. Each student in this club has worked hard to obtain their major letters. They spend much time and sacrificed other events to work hard on their sport. Coaches also work hard to help make each athlete have not only more power physically but also mentally. We're proud of these coaches for their patience and time to help make each athlete stronger.

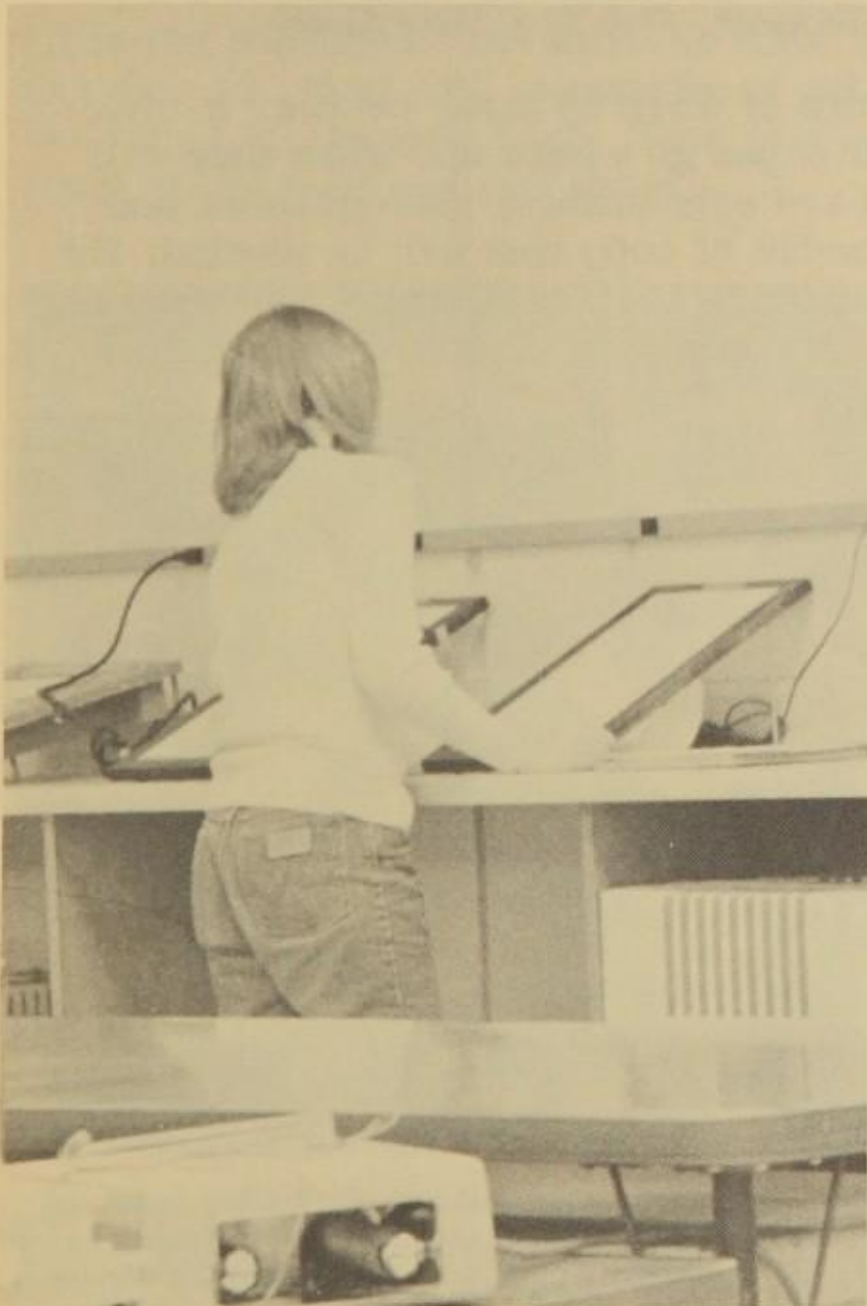

At each home basketball or wrestling games, the Varsity Club sells refreshments to raise money. The Varsity Club also sells various other items at different times of the year.

As most everyone knows, the Papermaker Post is the school newspaper. In it are happenings in school, sports activities, news about teachers and students, editorials, and jokes. It is put out once a month and delivered to your classroom free.

The Papermaker Post staff works hard getting stories, typing them up, and running off the paper. You don't have to be good at writing to be on the staff. There are always plenty of things that you can do to help. Our advisor is Mrs. Wilhorn.

MOCCASIN STAFF

Putting the Moccasin together involves many hours of work by many people. It involves planning and scheduling the book--deciding what pages go where and when they will be sent in; planning the pictures that will be needed and scheduling a photographer and darkroom; laying out the pages--determining the amount of copy that will be needed, the size of the pictures, and where they will be placed; getting everything together--drawing up a 3-R layout form, stamping the pictures, typing the copy and putting it in an envelopes.

Pages are assigned to staff members, so that everyone has something to do and all pages are completed by the deadline. Here Joan Ystad and Kyle Bryan are shown checking the schedule.

Getting pages that are varied and interesting is one of the main goals of the Moccasin staff. Kim Elsen, Laurie Hoeft, and Gretchen Bennett are arranging the pieces for a paste-up.

One of the most tedious jobs on the Moccasin staff is that of indexing all the pictures. Joanne Gennrich is shown here recording the page numbers on the individual index cards from copy sheets.

Pictures are not always the correct size and shape. Kyle Bryan puts cropping marks on a picture to indicate to the plant what size and shape they would like the picture to be.

This is the first edition of the Moccasin with a second color. This was received free from the publishers because the first 16-page signature was gotten to the printers by October 15. Next fall, subscribers will again receive a supplement containing the spring activities at Nekoosa High. This is also received free because the staff moved all deadlines up 20 days and met them.

The varsity conference record this year (1975-76) was four wins and five losses. Their overall record was five wins and ten losses. The girls voted for the most valuable and most improved players. They were Terri Kouba as most valuable and Kathra Bennett as Most Improved player. The girls chosen on the all conference Marawood Volleyball Team were Terri Kouba and Gail Nickel (both on the second team). Honorable mention was Lynette Griffin.

The junior varsity conference record was six wins and three losses. Their overall record was nine wins and five losses. The junior varsity girls tied for first place in the Marawood Conference with Auburndale.

Overall both teams had a fine season and we hope next year we can better these records even more.

Looking back at the cross country season here at Nekoosa for this school year, I would have to say that it has been most rewarding. Rewarding to the Coach and rewarding to the runners. This year we started with twelve boys and ended with fourteen, not one boy dropped the sport. We had a group of boys that were ideal to work with.

We worked as a team, which is so important to winning, if one of our runners was down someone would take up the slack, and that's team effort, which produced a winning attitude as can be seen by the boys winning their own invitational and conference meets.

It has been a good year for our guys; we hope that come next fall they will be looking forward to the competitive season ahead of them, and that we will continue on with the winning tradition that is being established in Cross Country.

FREE TO BE ME

"ME"

I am myself,
And I shall be me.
No one can boss me
Cuz I will be free.
You live your life,
And I will live mine.
I'll go my own way,
And, thus, take my time.
I am the person
That I have become.
No one can change that.
No, dear, not one.
I'm independent,

I have my own views,
I like watching "Good Time
Times,"
But don't like the news.
I do what I want to
And no one can say,
When I should come home
Or how I should play.
So if you are thinking
That I am not free,
Stop and think twice,
friend,
Cuz I shall be me.

An orange is like a poem
It is very unique
It is very sweet
Some are sour
And some make you glad

A poem is written, it is written for you
A poem is to make you see the light in the sky
And the darkness of night

A poem tells you the thoughts inside the writer
It also tells you the present, and the future
How they loved and they worked

Thanks everybody,

Kathy Bennett, Lynette Griffin
Co-Editors

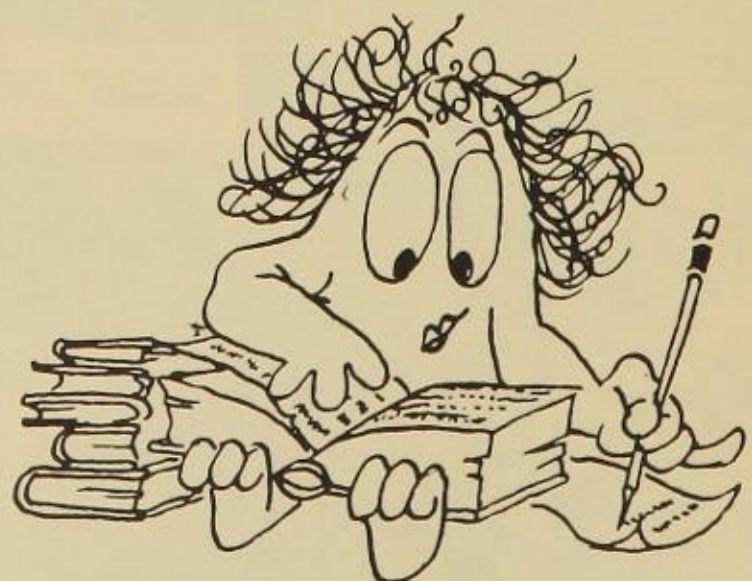

Ed Last is our Josten's yearbook representative who helped us get it all together. He meets with us and answers questions and gives us ideas on setting up the yearbook. Workshops are set up by him to help students working with yearbooks. Many thanks goes to him for all the help he has given us.

There is very little we as editors could do by ourselves, but when we put our heads together with our staff and advisors we were bound to come up with a super, great book.

A special thanks to Miss Wolslegel and Mrs. Wilhorn for all their efforts and time they have spent with us, and to Mr. Slaybaugh for all the help with the pictures and history of Nekoosa. And thanks to our business managers, Janeen Hasenohrl and Lu Elsen, who raised all of our funds for us. We would like to thank everyone that has helped us in any way.

This was our campaign slogan for this year. After you ordered a Moccasin you recieved a "Did it" button.

When you consider the thousands of different kinds of paper products people use everyday, you get a clearer understanding why it's necessary to harvest trees. But there's something else to consider for the long run. The demand for paper products will keep increasing. That means there'll have to be ways to produce more trees on the same amount of land to meet that demand. So we cut trees now to "make way" for the trees of tomorrow. And we do it in such a way that more trees grow faster to replace the ones we cut. That's forest management... and that's our goal at Nekoosa Papers: to responsibly produce paper products for today without endangering the resources we'll all need for the future. So let's talk about what we have in common.
